Man, 72, Killed, 6 Injured In Area Traffic

Car Hits Holmes Countian

Two Seriously Hurt In City

A 72-year-old man was killed and six persons were injured, two seriously, in traffic mishaps in the Mansfield area during the week end.

Samuel Arnold, Holmesville laborer, died after he was struck by a car as he was crossing the street near the Jacob Miller filling station in Millersburg Saturday night. Mr. Arnold was pronounced dead on arrival at Pomerene hospital.

Holmes county Sheriff Wayne D. Starner exonerated the driver, Robert Doty, 22, of Polk, R. D. 1, after an investigation. The victim suffered head injuries, a broken neck and fractured left arm, the coroner reported.

His wife, Lucinda, died in 1930, and his daughter, Mrs. Gladys Ling, died near Loudonville in 1933. Arnold is survived by three grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Hulda Martin of Millersburg. He was a member of the Holmesville Church of Christ.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Elliott funeral home in Millersburg with Rev. Rollin W. Dunabaugh, Church of Christ pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery at Millersburg.

Most seriously injured in Mansfield accidents were: George Sullivan, 30, of 259 Park avenue west, and Rosevelt Scott, 23 of 226 East First street.

CAR RAMS POLE

Sullivan was injured when he was thrown through the windshield of his car at West Fourth street and West Park drive at 12:15 a. m. Sunday. Suffering from multiple lacerations of the face, scalp, neck and head and chest injuries, Sullivan was taken to General hospital where his condition was reported "fair" today.

Police said Sullivan was traveling west on West Fourth street and failed to negotiate the turn into West Park drive when his car struck a utility pole and street sign.

Scott, who suffered a broken back and lacerations of the face, was injured in a car and truck accident at 8:30 a. m. Sunday at Park avenue east and Foster street. His two-year-old daughter, Shirley Ann Scott, suffered body bruises and was treated at General hospital. Scott was reported in "fair" condition today.

According to officers, Scott was traveling north on South Foster street through the intersection when a truck driven by Boyd E. Lindsey of Benning, Calif., struck the Scott car. Lindsey, held on investigation in city jail, told police the sun blinded him and that he failed to see the red traffic light.

Victims of a two-car crash on Ashland road near Central avenue, were: Miss Sarah First, 50, of 121 Lind avenue, abrasions of the face; Miss Bessie Stringfellow, 58, of 486 Davey avenue, bruises of the head and right ankle; and Mrs. Walter Stringfellow, 55, of 151 Park avenue east, abrasions of the right hand, knee and forehead. All were treated and released at General hospital.

Police today cited Leslie E. Etzwiler of Ashland to appear in municipal court to answer an unsafe driving charge. Officers said Etzwiler's car, operated on the wrong side of the road, struck Miss First's car. The mishap occurred at 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Etzwiler was fined $15 and costs and lost his right to drive for 30 days today in municipal court.

Red Rolfe New Tiger Manager

DETROIT —(AP)— The Detroit Tigers today named Robert A. (Red) Rolfe manager of their baseball team.

A former Yankee star, Rolfe in 1947 was named director of the Tigers' minor league farm system.

He succeeds Steve O'Neill, whose contract was not renewed. No salary details were revealed.

SERVICES WEDNESDAY

LANCASTER — (INS) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for John L. Graham, president of the Lancaster National bank, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack Sunday.

Canada's elder statesman and ablest politician, Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King resigns today after establishing a record tenure of office that may never be surpassed. The 73-year-old ailing prime minister has headed Canada's government for 21 years, five months and five days. It is the longest period a British commonwealth prime minister has held office—even surpassing the 7,619-day record of Britain's Sir Robert Walpole. His successor is the French Canadian external affairs minister 66-year-old Louise St. Laurent, a bi-lingual Quebec lawyer.

Thankless Pair Flee

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. —(AP)—Two life-term convicts used their mother's funeral yesterday as a ruse to escape.

George Sylvester Huston, 41, and his brother, Ernest Gordon Huston, 28, both serving sentences for murder, were permitted to leave the Missouri state penitentiary at Jefferson City in custody of two guards to attend the services here.

Prior to going to the funeral home, the convicts were allowed to join about 20 relatives in the house where their mother had lived. The guards, James Farmer and Albert Phillips, remained outside and watched through a window.

The Hustons left the other relatives and fled through a rear door. Highway patrol, city and county officers were alerted but no trace of the men were found.

Other members of the family expressed bitterness over the brothers' action, police reported. The funeral of the mother, Mrs. Gertrude Huston, was held on schedule.

Milk Price Down a Cent

Twenty cents will buy a quart of milk, starting tomorrow. A one-cent drop on the quart price was announced today for the Mansfield area by local dairymen.

The price decrease in this area, dairymen said, was encouraged by a comparable price drop in the Cleveland area last week Mansfield dairies are influenced by Cleveland prices due to infiltration of Cleveland buyers into this section.

Original report of the price drop was given the News-Journal today by Ruhland Isaly of the Isaly Dairy company. Managers of the Borden, Page and Axtell dairies confirmed the drop.

Tomorrow's drop will put milk back at the July price. Milk went to 22 cents a quart here on Aug. 1 when a two-cent raise was announced throughout the area.

Will Request Power Shift

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The Hoover commission will recommend a substantial shift of authority from the President to members of his cabinet.

Rep. Carter Manasco, D., Ala., said the recommendation is intended to ease the President's burden and give cabinet officers more power over their departments. The congressman is a member of the commission which is studying means of streamlining the executive branch of government.

Under the present setup, chiefs of more than 70 government agencies go directly to the White House for final decisions on major policy questions.

See Hope For Sewer Bond Issue

Officials Ask Ruling On Vote

City officials saw a chance today that the $500,000 sewer bond issue may have passed, after all.

The question revolves around an interpretation of a state law to determine whether such bond issues need 60 or 65 per cent of the total vote to pass.

The official returns showed that 10,026, or 64.66 per cent of the 15,504 votes cast favored the measure. It was believed that such bond issues needed 65 per cent of the votes, or 10,078 "for" ballots. The election board declared the measure defeated.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch said today an examination of the state law reveals there is a question whether the bond issue needed 60 or 65 per cent of the votes.

The law states: ". . . that bond issues for purposes of enabling municipalities to purchase, construct, improve or expand municipally-owned water, electric, or gas works, systems and services, or transportation routes or systems shall require an affirmative vote of 60 per cent. . . ."

The question to be decided is whether the state legislature intended the words "systems and services," (preceding "gas works") to include storm sewer systems.

SEEKS BOARD RULING

Kalbfleisch said he is preparing a brief requesting the election board to rule on this matter. Under normal legal procedure, the election board will request Prosecutor Theodore Lutz for an opinion and he will contact the state attorney-general for a ruling on the intent of the legislature.

Regardless of the ruling of the attorney-general, Mansfield voters probably will get a second chance to vote on the measure.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said he will recommend that council put the issue on the ballot for a second try at the earliest possible time.

He has asked Kalbfleisch for an opinion on the question of whether the matter can be placed on the May primary ballot or whether it cannot be re-introduced until the November general elections.

Typical Fall Weather Due

Typical autumn weather featuring cloudy days and cool nights is slated to cover Ohio for the first part of this week.

Some cloudiness with moderate temperatures was the forecast for today. Tonight will be fair and cooler, but increasing cloudiness in expected tomorrow.

However, Forecaster Milton Davis said temperatures should climb into the mid-50's tomorrow, making for somewhat pleasant conditions.

Today's high was expected to be around the 50-mark, about normal for this time of year. The mercury is slated to drop to between 30 and 35 degrees through most of the state tonight.

England Roars Its Welcome to Prince

By BRUCE MUNN

LONDON—(UP)—The thunder of 41-gun salutes and peal of bells heralding the birth to Princess Elizabeth of a prince, who may one day be king, lifted Britons today from the rut of austerity to a gay holiday spirit.

Elizabeth spent a restful night after the birth of her first child at 9:14 p. m. (4:14 p. m. Mansfield time), according to word from Buckingham palace today, and the seven-pound-six-ounce infant prince, like his mother, was doing well.

At dawn a new crowd began gathering around the rails of Buckingham palace, where 10,000 massed last night to cheer the tidings of the birth and to hail the father, Prince Philip, with a roaring "he's a jolly good fellow."

It was an undeclared holiday for the celebration of the birth of the child who is second in line of succession to the British throne after Elizabeth—the heir presumptive, since theoretically the birth of a son to the king and queen would displace their oldest daughter.

The palace postoffice staff was flooded with congratulatory cables from all quarters of the far flung empire and the rest of the world. The royal baby was the principal topic of talk in every street of London, where the main celebration was held.

The attending doctors, Sir William Gilliatt and Sir John Weir, stayed at the palace through the night, but late word that all was well indicated that their presence was not required."

The choice of Christian names for the prince, a momentous matter to the kingdom, was expected to be made within the next few days by Elizabeth, Philip, King George and Queen Elizabeth, the latter of whom now are grandparents for the first time.

Arrangements had not yet been made for the christening, it probably will be held at Sandringham, where the royal family will have Christmas dinner. It will be a private ceremony, likely conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the head of the Church of England.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH

The baby was the first born in direct succession to the throne since the Duke of Windsor, the former Prince of Wales who ruled briefly as Edward VIII.

King George, after seeing his grandson, exclaimed, "it's a fine, banking boy." A palace intimate quoted a member of the royal household who had seen the child as saying "he is a lovely boy—a really splendid baby."

FIRST TO SEE SON

Philip was the first of the royal family to see his son. He was with Elizabeth when she recovered from the anesthetic. The physicians allowed them a brief moment to

Plane Runs Amok

Pilot Dead, Craft Shot To Halt By Patrolman

INDIANAPOLIS—(INS)—The sharp shooting eye of an Indiana state trooper was credited today with preventing possible high loss of life when an F-51 fighter plane with its fatally injured pilot spun out of control at Stout field near Indianapolis.

He is State Trooper Ray H. Thompson, who slowed the spinning aircraft by deflating one of its tires with a shotgun blast after repeated attempts to halt the runaway plane had failed.

For ten minutes it had terrified onlookers.

The pilot, Capt. Philip E. Bonner, 28, of Indianapolis, died en route to a hospital. He suffered a compound skull fracture when another plane crashed into his Mustang fighter on a group takeoff.

Also praised for heroism was S/Sgt. Stephen Eropelnicki of the Tenth Air Force. Eropelnicki, of Lake Toxawa, N. C., leaped onto the one remaining wing of the damage plane, climbed into the cockpit and shut off the engine.

The accident occurred when Capt. Bonner was leading a flight of Indiana National Guard planes on a takeoff from Stout field. Suddenly his shop lost speed. The following plane, piloted by Second Lieut. Thomas C. Costin, 23, of Martinsville, Ind., crashed into the slowing craft. The right wing was sheared off. A wing tip of Costin's plane catapulted into Bonner's cockpit, striking him in the head.

The pilotless plane spun in a circle on the runway, imperiling ground crewmen, state police and air force men.

Fast-thinking Thompson fired several ineffective shots with a pistol, and then blasted one of the tires with a shotgun. The deflated tire slowed the plane enough to enable the air force sergeant to leap aboard.

Air force authorities said they did not know what caused Bonner's craft to slow suddenly.

Bonner, a native of Kalamazoo, Mich., was an instructor at Luke field, Phoenix, Ariz., during the recent war. He is survived by his wife, Mary, a small daughter; his father, Fred Bonner of Dallas, Tex., and his mother, Mrs. Gladys Pike, of Kalamazoo.

Marshall Prepares U. S. Reply

Will Answer U. N. On Big 4 Appeal

BULLETIN

PARIS—Canada demanded today the United Nations order Jews and Arabs to negotiate an immediate armistice in Palestine. But Moshe Shertok, foreign minister of Israel, told the U.N. that the Jewish state never will surrender the Negev desert area of southern Palestine.

★

PARIS—(INS)—U. S. Secretary of State Marshall was reported working today on an American reply to the appeal by top U.N. leadership for early and direct Big Four negotiations on Berlin.

The appeal, signed by U.S. Secretary General Trygve Lie and general assembly President Dr. Herbert Evatt, was directed to the big power government chiefs "over the heads" of the foreign ministers.

Authoritative American sources said that Marshall is expected to deliver the U. S. reply "in some days."

British quarters said that similar individual replies also probably will be made on the "foreign minister level" by Great Britain and France.

These quarters indicated that the three western powers had decided against a joint answer.

★

PARIS—(UP)—The United Nations general assembly ordered an immediate start today of the long delayed debate on the Palestine situation, in which Israel was defying an order to give up the Negev by Friday.

The 58-nation UN political committee called an afternoon session to tackle the knotty problem of Palestine. Neither the United States nor Great Britain was prepared to speak on Palestine before tomorrow.

The UN security council also was scheduled to open debate on the plans of Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting UN mediator, for converting the Palestine truce into an armistice.

Bunche called on the Jews to fall back from their newly won territory in the Negev, including the key town of Beersheba which Israeli forces seized in an attack launched last month in violation of their truce agreement.

Aubrey Eban, Israeli delegate here, said bluntly that his country would not comply with Bunche's order.

Sheriff, Deputy In Odd Switch

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Franklin county Sheriff Ralph J. Paul and Chief Deputy Dale V. Thibault will switch jobs today—then on Jan. 1, they'll switch back again.

The unusual circumstance came about because Paul was appointed to serve until the next election, after Sheriff Jacob E. Sandusky died in July, 1947. On Nov. 2, Thibault was elected to fill the late Sandusky's unexpired term and Paul was elected to a four-year term beginning Jan. 1.

Pays $2,735 For One Day Of Hunting

BUCKEYE LAKE—(INS)—Buckeye Lake Druggist Harold Wright paid $2,735 for one day's hunting.

He was picked up early yesterday, a day before the hunting season started and Hebron Justice of the Peace H. C. Jackson fined him a neat $100 each for 10 pheasants and 16 rabbits —and then added $137 in court costs.

It was one of the heaviest hunting fines ever laid down in Ohio.

N. Y. Mayor Seeks Dock Settlement

200 Ships Are Tied Up In Port

NEW YORK —(UP)— Mayor William O'Dwyer summoned Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), for a conference today in an effort to settle the three-day-old strike of 45,000 AFL dockmen on the Atlantic seaboard.

O'Dwyer cut short a California vacation to return to this strike-bound port which has more than 200 ships tied up in the harbor, halting the flow of Marshall plan aid to Europe.

Four small liners with a total of more than 700 passengers aboard were to arrive during the day. Their passengers will be forced to carry their own baggage ashore, even as one of the world's wealthiest men, John D. Rockefeller III, who arrived yesterday on the liner Saturnia from Italy.

CONTRACT REJECTED

The strike closed ports from Portland, Me., To Norfork, Va., when members of the ILA rejected a new contract negotiated by Ryan and calling for a 10-cent hourly raise.

Ryan said he now was pressing for the union's original demand of a 50-cent an hour increase.

In Philadelphia, striking Longshoremen turned down an army request that they load food and mail shipments for troops overseas.

However, that appeared to be a local dispute, for the loading of army ships continued normally in New York, army authorities reporting that they anticiapted no trouble with Lonshoremen here.

Demands T-H Repeal

AFL Opens 67th Session Today

CINCINNATI — (INS) — The American Federation of Labor served notice on President Truman today that is expects him to ask congress for complete repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

As the AFL opened its 67th convention in Cincinnati, its President, William Green, said following a three-hour pre-convention session of the Federation's 15-member executive council:

"That was the issue in the recent campaign not to amend, but to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act period.

"It was the unanimous conviction of the council that we could interpret the attitude of the President, based on his speeches during the campaign and his statements since the election, that he favored repeal.

"We believe we are justified in expecting the President to recommend repeal in his opening address to congress."

Poll On Votes Held Not Useful

NEW YORK — (INS) — Dr. George Gallup admitted today that political polls serve no useful purpose.

The poll taker who went astray in the Nov. 2 election by predicting a Dewey victory. Gallup, who conducts the American Institute of Public Opinion said he made a mistake by stopping his poll 10 days before the election.

PLANES HUNT TUGBOAT

HONOLULU — (UP) — Coast guard and Navy search planes today cruised over the sea northwest of here, looking for the tugboat Kokua, missing since Friday night adrift with 15 men aboard.

U. S. Pulls Out Its Advisers

Report Suchow Now Is Isolated

(Compiled From Wire Services)

NANKING — Chinese government troops were reported steadily weakening today under a massive communist onslaught on all sides of Suchow, guarding the main approaches to Nanking.

Despite this darkening picture, an official Nanking spokesman characterized as "absolutely untrue" a communist claim that top nationalist leaders are conniving to force the "abdication" of President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Authoritative sources revealed meanwhile that the United States plans the gradual withdrawal of some 1,250 officers and men of its military advisory group from China. This would leave a nucleus of only about 50 American Army, Navy and Air Force officers of the group in China.

Generalissimo Chiang, it was learned, has been directly informed of the American decision to evacuate the bulk of the military advisory personnel because of the swiftly deteriorating nationalist military position in central China.

SUCHOW ISOLATED

A mounting breakup of national forces along the outer approaches to Nanking was reflected in reports from the war area.

Neutral reports said Suchow was isolated. Others had a mechanized force fighting its way to the relief of trapped government troops east of the city.

Communist forces reached Suhsien, 135 miles northwest of Nanking. One report said the town was captured by the reds.

The railroad, connecting Pukow, across the Yangtze from Nanking, and Suchow, had been cut in several places. Government reinforcements moving up from Nanking were reported stranded in spots along the line. There were no reports from Suchow itself.

Charles Hayes of Salem, Mass., pilot of a plane that flew out 25 Catholic missionaries to Shanghai, said there were signs of heavy fighting near the Suchow airport, five miles east of the city.

On the political front President Chiang Kai-Shek and top leaders met in Nanking to discuss a protest to the United Nations against alleged Russian aid to the reds. Reliable sources said no decision was reached, but indicated a possible government statement later.

Talk of a "war cabinet" without Chiang died down.

In a desperate effort to save the Suchow situation, the government reportedly had thrown some of the weary troops evacuated from the Manchurian port of Hulatao into the battle.

Big Vote Error Found

CLEVELAND — (AP) — With the presidential race 13 days old, the board of elections in Cleveland reported today that Thomas E. Dewey ran a lot closer to President Truman than everyone thought.

What happened, the board said, was that some whopping errors were made in counting here, giving President Truman 10,518 votes more than he deserved.

That figure is official in Cuyahoga county. Deducting it from the still unofficial state-wide figure, President Truman's plurality over Gov. Dewey was only 6,817 instead of 17,335.

It was the biggest mistake in the board's recent history and Chairman Dan Duffy holds a meet today to set whether counting methods can be improved next time. Any talk of voting machines still is a little premature, he said.

"We have had three slow election counts under the present system," he said, "and if the system is going to prove inaccurate as well I don't see how we can stay with it."

The official count in Cuyahoga county was Truman 257,958 Dewey 214,889.

Hundreds Invade Woods and Fields On Opening Day

Sun Shines on Early Hunters In Richland County

WIDOWED TODAY—Many a hen pheasant will become a widow today as Richland county hunters take to the fields. This one wandered into the back yard of the Richard R. Funk home, 521 Park avenue west, Saturday afternoon, and declined to leave.

Hundreds of Richland county hunters went into the woods and fields of Ohio and Michigan today in quest of birds, rabbits, and deer.

The deer hunters were in Michigan since the open season on deer in scattered Ohio counties won't begin until Dec. 13.

The sun came out in Richland county soon after the hunting season opened at 9 a. m. today, bringing cheer to the hearts of nimrods. Rabbits and pheasants "den up" during bad weather and are harder to flush.

Many Richland countians went to the prairie section of northwestern Ohio today to shoot pheasants.

H. A. Rider, state conservation commissioner, said a full staff of game protectors would be in the fields during the hunting hours of 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Rider said prospects for the Buckeye hunters were excelsent and that game has increased in number. Officials recommended that hunters seek the abundant ruffled grouse.

Ackerman Claims Oldest Hunter Title

Charles F. Ackerman, president of the Mansfield Savings Trust National, probably was the oldest Richland countian hunting pheasants today. Mr. Ackerman, who will be 91 tomorrow, accompanied a party of friends to the Findlay area to shoot birds. He missed the first day of the season last year because of ill health, but he was eager to get back into the fields today.

Heartbreak and Humor Appear In The Form of Postwar Anecdotes

NEW YORK—(AP)—Our menu for today is two short stories.

The friends who told them to me thought the stories were new and true. But a thing can be new and true to one person and old and false to another. How else can you explain love, hamburger and Santa Claus?

Personally, I have never heard the first story before. And it may be true. The second story—in one variation or another—has probably been told since the Greeks camped outside Troy.

But a restaurant can't change its whole bill of fare every day. And with that cautious preamble, let us go on to the stories:

A beautiful lady went into a fashionable Fifth avenue store to buy a new dress. There was a strangeness in her manner that caught the salesgirl's interest.

It was the lady's fixity of purpose. She seemed to know exactly what she wanted. When she had selected a dress, she went into another room to have it fitted.

"I want the sleeves here," she said, pointing to her arm. "And I want the skirt to fall exactly here." And she indicated the length.

The fitter looked up and objected politely:

"That isn't the way they are wearing them this year. It's out of fashion."

"I know," said the lady. "But I am going to San Francisco to meet my husband. He's been with the army overseas. Now he's coming home. And when I meet him I want to be dressed just as I was when I told him goodbye."

"Where has your husband been" asked the fitter, pleasantly.

"Guadalcanal," replied the lady.

"All this time in Guadalcanal?" said the fitter.

"Yes."

And suddenly the fitter understood her mission. He bent to his task. He did not want to look up into the lady's eyes.

The locale of the other tale is Berlin.

A German family had been receiving gift packages from relatives in America to supplement their diet of potatoes, more potatoes—and still more potatoes.

In one box came a small package containing a mysterious powdery substance. There were no directions on the package on how to cook it, and the hausfrau was stumped.

"How shall I prepare it?" she asked. The family went into a huddle over the problem. It was an exciting problem—anything having to do with food is exciting in Germany.

Each member in turn examined the package.

"Perhaps," said the hausfrau doubtfully, "I should wait until I can write back and find out how it should be used." . . .

This proposal was voted down immediately as a waste of time.

"The Americans eat so much dehydrated food," grumbled the husband. "It must be soup flavoring. Yes, that is it. Put it in the soup."

So into the soup pot it went. The family couldn't see that it added anything to the flavor, but they agreed it certainly was filling.

Two weeks later a letter from America arrived. The letter said:

"It is with much sadness we inform you that dear uncle Fritz has passed away. Because of his long desire to return again to the fatherland, we had him cremated.

"We are sending his ashes in the next parcel."

Points Out That He Was First To Report on Stalin-Truman Meeting

MEMOS TO ALL EDITORS

Commentators and wire news services credited a Washington man as the source for the latest report of Truman and Stalin meeting in Moscow. . . . It was published Monday morning. . . . The night before we reported: "The hottest rumor in Washington tonight is about another Truman-Stalin meeting at some neutral place" ....White House spokesmen denied the Washington version, which probably goes for ours, too.

But one of Mr. Truman's staunchest supporters (the only Northern publisher we know of, that is) told us the week before: "You can say with authority that there is a Moscow Mission to the U. S. in the works"....Which we did.....Weeks before that one, we were told to expect another Russian "peace offensive"....The face that the Washington story was published in Russia certainly indicates that Moscow is in a mood to dicker.

You cannot quote the President unless he okays it. So we are not quoting him ... But early last April (long before the Vinson-to-Moscow story exploded) this reporter suggested the President fly there....It was suggested to Mr. Forrestal, Mr. Symington and Mr. Clark Clifford among others high in the Gov't.

"And God forbid," we said, "THAT THE President is killed in the attempt. He'd go down in the books as another man who died for peace. Anything to stop this war so many believe is coming!"....We p.s'd· "His effort would capture every mother's and father's heart in the land and probably sweep him back into the White House."

Mr. Clifford at the White House said: "We appreciate the melodramatic impact of your suggestion, but if the President flew to Moscow to visit Stalin it would be a mistake. Before the President was air-borne back every Russian microphone would be shouting that Stalin, the Great Man of Peace, had just told the American President there must be no war, etc., etc. And make Americans appear to be the warmongers".

Later, in New York that night, we read the front pages, which reported (from London) that 14 members of Parliament felt the situation had so deteriorated, a meeting should be held at once among Truman, Attlee and Stalin"....We telegraphed it to the above mentioned men· "Just read this from London. Scooped again, dammit!"

Following the London dispatch many Congressmen, Senators and gov't people (and Wallace) tried to steal the show with the same "demand"....Then, recently the Vinson angle atomic'd....We asked AP and UP men in Washington: "Whose idea was sending Vinson to Moscow?"... One replied: "Clark Dhfford's He thought it would be a terrific idea to insure the President's re-election"....Later a scribe said that wasn't true ...I suspect it was the President's.

From Girl Friday: "Your item that Eisenhower's reward for refusing the nomination may be Forrestal's Defense post must have been wishful thinking. No commissioned officer is eligible for the Sec'y of Defense job, unless he's been separated from the military for ten years. This doesn't apply to GI'. Ike is a 5-star man for life. I dare you to print this!"

Car Stolen, Four Other Autos Looted

Aerials, Ornaments Reported Taken

One car was reported stolen and four others were looted in Mansfield over the week end, police and sheriff's deputies said today.

Mabel Hannan, 68 North Diamond street, told deputies a black, 1938 Plymouth coupe, license N-5874, was taken from Mancrest drive late Saturday night or early Sunday.

Ralph Kennedy, 67 Grasmere avenue, reported to deputies last night that his car was ransacked of three wool blankets and six boxes of nylon hose while it was parked at Helen's Lunch on Springmill road about midnight Saturday. Kennedy valued the hose at $28.50.

A thief with an apparent taste for car aerials and radiator ornaments was sought by police after three Mansfielders reported their cars stripped of the accessories during the week end.

H. N. Wood, 221 West Fourth street, reported Sunday the aerial and radiator ornament were taken from his car while it was parked in his garage Saturday night.

A similar theft was reported yesterday by Lloyd Keifer, 264 Herman avenue, who said he believed the theft occurred Friday night during the football game. Keifer said he parked his car on West Park drive.

Charles Lex, 20 Lexington avenue, reported to police early Sunday that his aerial was taken from his car while the auto was parked near the Ohio theater Saturday night.

Gets Report Of Survey

Report of the study committee of the Richland County Child Welfare will be submitted at a meeting Thursday night in room No. 202 at John Simpson junior high school. Vernon Lawrence, president of the council, announced today.

The committee, which includes 20 Mansfield men and women interested in the Child Welfare situation here and appointed by the council, will submit for approval a number of recommendations based on the recent state survey of the Child Welfare situation here.

These recommendations will be made to the county commissioners following approval or revision by the general council Thursday night.

The meeting will open at 7:30 p m, and Lawrence will preside.

Death Claims Noted Writer

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Roark Bradford, versatile author of "Old Man Adam and His Chillun," from which the stage hit "Green Pastures" was adapted, died at his French quarter home Saturday. He was 52.

Bradford, also noted for his other Negro folk tales, had been in ill health for some time. Mrs. Bradford said that he died from amoebiasis which he contracted while serving with the U. S. Navy in French West Africa in 1943.

Mrs Bradford said the author thought burial archaic and that in accordance with his wishes his body will be cremated and the ashes dropped into his beloved Mississippi river.

Aids Veterans, Families For 21 Years

Mrs. Cochran Leaves Service Post

By DOUG CHEVALIER

Mrs. Della M. Cochran today is concluding a long career as clerk-investigator for the Richland County Soldiers Relief commission.

Beginning tomorrow, she will go on inactive status until her resignation becomes effective Dec. 31. Because of her 21 years of service to Richland county, a farewell dinner is being planned for early in December.

County officials and heads of veterans' organizations will be invited to the dinner.

Mrs. Cochran, a widow, lives at 501½ West Fourth street She has been a Mansfielder since 1919 when she moved here from Napoleon, O., her home town.

The daughter of a Civil War veteran, she became a member of the Soldiers' Relief commission Dec. 21, 1927, and served on the commission until 1945. The law pertaining to commission members was changed that year, and it was thereafter required that the membership be representatives of the American Legion, the Spanish-American War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and veterans of World War II.

When Mrs. Cochran was on the commission members had to be Civil War veterans, their widows, or children. It consisted of three members instead of the present five.

Her fellow members of the commission in the early days were George Ricketts and S. Finn Bell, both Civil War soldiers.

Activities of the commission then were limited as compared with present operations, she recalls.

PAYS $3,000 MONTHLY

"At the first meeting I attended we paid out $430 for the month and thought it was an awful lot," she says "Now the board puts out nearly $3,000 a month on soldiers' relief."

She has njoyed her work immensely, she says, particularly the case work that brought her in close contact with needy families. She cherishes the memories of some of the people she has helped get back on their feet.

VETS' CLERK RESIGNS—Mrs. Delia M. Cochran, shown at work in her office, will be the guest of honor at a farewell dinner next month. She is finishing 21 years' service with the Soldiers' Relief commission.

"That's the trouble with expanding. I used to go all over the county investigating, but of course that's impossible now that we have so many cases," she says with a wistful smile. "I always used to make friends with the families I was investigating—and it wasn't hard for me because I like people."

Admitting that dealing constantly in human misery could become depressing, Mrs. Cochran says she joined many women's organizations to instill a bit of gayety into her life. She is a member of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, the Women's Relief Corps, the Miriam Rebekah lodge, and the Daughters of America.

She holds office in every one of those clubs. She was secretary of the Community Chest for five years, and is an active participant in the functions of the First Presbyterian church.

As to her plans for the future Mrs. Cochran says, "I'm going to rest a while. Then I'll start up my little shop in my home." The shop she mentions specializes in needlework. Fine embroidery has long been her hobby She is proud of American cut lace embroidery.

She fully intends to keep up an active life. "I couldn't bear not to be doing something," she said.

First Aid Classes Set

Coursts Offered At County Schools

The first aid program of the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross is getting into full swing this week with a full slate of classes scheduled, John H. Finefrock jr., chairman of the first aid committee, announced today.

A class for boys will be started this afternoon at Shiloh and one for the girls at the Shiloh high school Tuesday afternoon. Meanwhile Gerald Coron, first aid instructor, is teaching four days each week at Lexington and Friday afternoon at Bellville.

Wednesday, the Parent-Teacher association of Bellville will join in a first aid class to be taught by Mrs. Florence Smotherman, a Red Cross first aid instructor.

Girl Scouts also are coming in for their share of instruction. Mrs. Smotherman teaches a class on Tuesday and Friday between 4 and 5 p. m. Mrs. Elizabeth Brochers instructs a class of Scouts at their Town House. A third group is being taught each Wednesday between 4 and 5 p. m. at the chapter house with Coron as instructor.

Lorain May Tax Amusement Devices

LORAIN — (INS) — Lorain city council was to act tonight on six revenue-raising ordinances which will require permits for bingo games, baseball ticker tape service, vending machines, and other such devices.

A dollar permit will be required on bingo games, many of which are operated by church and fraternal organizations, and the city will have the power to collect an additional five per cent of the gross business of each game.

Toastmasters' Club To Receive Charter

A charter will be presented to Mansfield's newly-organized Toastmasters' club Saturday night at a dinner meeting at the Sky Club.

V. L. Blinn, of Akron, governor of district No. 10 of the Toastmasters International, will present the charter and speak briefly at the meeting

The Toastmasters will present a sample of the regular program held each week at the YMCA. In this program there are four who speak and four who criticize in addition to one member who acts as master of ceremonies for the entire meeting.

It is expected that between 100 and 120 will be at the meeting. Guests will include members from Akron, Cleveland, Columbus and other area cities.

The Mansfield chapter of the Toastmasters' International was organized recently by Maurice W. Taylor, executive secretary of the YMCA. At the present time it has 25 active members; the limit is 30. During the recent Community Chest campaign, the club furnished speakers for commentary in connection with the Chest film which was furnished clubs and organizations here.

Present officers of the club include Harry Ahl, president; C. F. Coup, deputy governor of the club; George Connor, vice president; S. S. Rice, secretary; Ralph Martin, treasurer; Allen Sanford, sergeant-at-arms; W. G. Reed, educational chairman, and Harold Mansfield, publicity and public relations chairman.

Police Hunt Slayers of 2

BOCA RATON, Fla. —(AP)— A statewide dragnet was spread today for the slayer of nationally-known Sculptor Leno Lazzari and his pretty wife, Louise.

Lazzari, about 48, and his wife, the former Louise Delea of Brooklyn, 42, were shot to death in their modernistic studio-home early yesterday morning.

Police Chief W. H. Brown said robbery apparently was the motive. Mrs Lazzari's purse was missing and Lazzari's pockets had been turned out and no money was found in them.

The bodies were discovered shortly after 1 p. m. (EST) yesterday by Mrs. Marjorie Castiglione, a friend who was to have been a dinner guest

Brown termed it a "cold-blooded double murder for money."

SCHEDULES DISRUPTED—

School curriculum these days at Johnny Appleseed is just plain "upset," G. W. Harmony, principal says. The reason? Replastering and painting of all classrooms. Since it was built the school has been troubled with "moisture penetration" so last summer the outside was water-proofed and now all the wals have to be replastered where the moisture seeped through. When the plastering is done in each classroom, the painters move in and give the wals their first coat of paint. It will be a long, drawn-out job, according to Harmony. Meanwhile, classes are being shifted around to accommodate plasterers and painters.

Rusk Sees Legal Obstacle

Land Owners File Request

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk told a group of petitioners who want the Rocky Fork creek channel changed north of Mansfield that they petitioned the wrong agency.

The request had been filed with the county commissioners. Rusk said it should have gone to the Mansfield Conservancy district.

The area involved in the request is a short distance north of the Empire steel plant. Rusk said the changes, if authorized, would necessitate construction of a new bridge on Bowman street road over the Rocky Fork at that point.

Ten property owners requested widening and cleaning of the creek channel and changing of its course.

Rusk said their request was "outside the legal competence of the county engineer's office." Such a project, he told the petitioners, was under the jurisdiction of the Mansfield Conservancy district.

The conservancy district, however, has been inactive for a number of years.

COSTS CITED

Rusk based his objections to having the project handled by his department on the fact that under county ditch laws, heavy construction which would be made necessary by the job would be beyond the legal and finanical limitations of the county engineer.

He pointed out that the plans call for a new bridge about 1,000 feet from the present structure, and a new pipeline to the Empire Steel plant would have to be built. The steel company pumps the water it uses for cooling processes from Rocky Fork

The petitioners said the channel should be improved to take care of the water that frequently floods their lands. The drainage problem was aggravated when the city built municipal airport, they said water from the airport now drains into Rocky Fork.

Rusk said he would submit a report to the commissioners, asking that the county engineer's office be absolved from any participation in such a project.

The petitioners said they would register their reasons for their request in writing and present them to the commissioners.

Charges of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors and being the keeper of a place where they are illegally sold were brought against Lillian Jones, 506 Lily street, in municipal court today.

The cases was continued until Dec. 2. No plea was entered. She was arrested by state liquor department agents Saturday night at 224½ North Diamond street.

Harvey G Sutton, 1277 Woodville road, was fined $100 and lost his right to drive for six months after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The court suspended $50 of the fine on provision he pay damages to Burnace Mawhorr and V. R. Bollheimer.

Ecaline Marone, of Wooster, and Coleman V. Back, Longview avenue, charged with unsafe operation, were fined $15 and $5 and costs, respectively.

David Rockford, Marion, was fined $10 and costs for speeding.

Jesse Miller, Loudonville, pleaded innocent to a charge of non-support brought by Estella Stroble and won a continuance until Wednesday.

McGregor Lists Costs

Representative J. Harry McGregor today reported his personal expenses for his successful re-election campaign were $1,948. Personal receipts were reported at $680. His committee receipts were $5,700 and expenditures were $6,298. Unpaid bills amounting to $598 were reported.

C. L Mitchell, who was elected state representative on the Democratic ticket, reported expenditures of $147 and a contribution of $50 His opponent, Neil Robinson, Republican candidate for the office, reported expenditures of $278, and no contributions.

Work on Recreation Center Pushed By Richland Groups

Last-minute touches are being put on the garage of the new Reding home at the Richland Rural Life Center in Weller township by 4-H club members Within a few days they expect to move the poultry house to the new four-acre location at the corner of Crall road and the lane which leads back to the center

These two steps are a part of the increasing activity at the Center which point to a winter remodeling of the big barn into a dining room and recreational hall in preparation for a summer program next year.

Recently, the new four-room house which the Center built for Floyd Reding and his sister, Miss Bertha Reding, was opened to the public Several hundred rural residents gathered at the home to inspect the new rooms and to view the Center area.

Harry Stroup, chairman of the ways and means committee of the board of trustees, has announced a rummage sale near Shelby, the first step in a fund-raising campaign to insure completion of the Center.

Among contributions recently given to the Center fund, was $250 from the girls' club directed by Mrs. Harold Tingley. Thomas Sheppard, president of the organization, was handed ten $10 bills, a bag filled with nickles totaling $25, $75 in checks and an additional $50 made from the sale of a boxed dessert.

Just Some Yarns Picked Up From Things All Over

By Fred Tharp
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THERE'S LAWS that prohibit such things as stealing. . . . But many interesting bon mots slip up hither and yon in other writings. . . . So we've picked up a few to pass along and will call it just a bit of plagiarizing. . . . They've come from columns, news stories, letters, publicity hand outs and by word of mouth. . . . Here's a passel of the things:

★ ★ ★

If you ever get to wondering why football stars begin to believe their importance, consider the case of North Carolina's Choo Choo Charley Justice.

After a 1948 game, Charley and his party arrived at a Chapel Hill, N. C., inn after the kitchen had been closed. The headwaiter rushed into the kitchen and told the chef that North Carolina's most important citizen wanted to eat.

"I wouldn't even open the kitchen for the governor," quoth the irate cook.

"But it's Charley Justice," he was told.

Choo Choo ate! . . .

★ ★ ★

President Truman's surprising upset victory over Gov. Thomas E Dewey caused quite a furor.

"If anything like that happened in boxing," commented one follower of the beak-busting trade, "there would be an immediate investigation."

Writing to Merry Harry Mehock, the Senior high track coach, a former Tyger athlete said, in part, "Tweak Tharp's mustache and see if you can't get a little publicity for me. . . . I'm only kidding . . . but you might tell him I'm No. 3 man on the Miami cross country team."

The writer was Pete Vogt, who was unbeaten as a Tyger harrier in dual and triangular meets last year. (Thanks for the info, Pete.)

★ ★ ★

Mike Korich, a deaf bowler in Los Angeles, recently turned in totals of 664 and 794.

Said he, "I'm lucky, I don't have to listen to advice like the other boys do."

Fritz Howell tells this one about Paul Brown.

"You've all read many times of the great coaching record of Paul Brown. Of his two years at Severn academy where he lost but one game, of his many seasons at Massillon where he dropped but one of the last 60 contests, at Ohio State, Great Lakes, and with the Browns where he has won two straight titles and has nine straight wins this season?

"Well, it wasn't always like that. Paul has kept this hidden for a long time, but in his first two years of coaching, after leaving Miami university, he was at Carrollton high school

Q.—How many games did he win at Carrollton in two years?

"A.—None!

"Incidentally, W. J. McGraw, Wheeling, W. Va., banker and one of Ohio State's greatest football boosters, has the distinction of being the only man ever to turn Brown down for a coaching job. Mr. McGraw was head of the Bellaire, O., schools when Brown was graduated from Miami. 'Precision Paul' asked for the coaching job there, but Mr. McGraw said "Sorry, we need someone with more experience."

Georgetown has a back named Billy Conn who is regarded by his coaches as one of the best running backs in the nation. . . . Which prompted one wag to remark that he had the name for it. . . .

Harvard football players call the cameraman, "The most hated man in football."

They contend they never see him at work but the Monday after a game he always has their mistakes ready for revelation. Oscar Fraley popped up, "One thing, the man certainly has a lot to work with."

★ ★ ★

Jimmy Conzelman, the witty head man of the Chicago Cardinals, has joined Paul Brown on the "wanted by colleges" front. Jimmy has had two or three feelers from big universities

But he isn't interested. "There are no alumni in pro ball. I know when I'm well off," he says.

★ ★ ★

Bob Higgins, the portly guy who coaches at Penn State, has been turning out good teams for years, but doesn't take success lightly. He's a worrier. Penn State was unbeaten last year but Higgins was in a daze after his boys knocked off the unbeaten Penn Quakers last week.

"We were fortunate," he explained. "We are not a top-notch football college."

"All I have to do to bring myself down to earth, is remember 1946," Higgins cautioned "We went to Pittsburgh and Pitt beat us. After the game I felt low and thought I'd call my wife but I didn't have a nickel—see, don't ever be a football coach.

"Well, a fellow walked by with a face as long as a rainy Sunday so I knew he was a Penn State man and I asked him if he had a nickel, telling him I wanted to call a friend. The guy fished out a coin, tossed it at me and growled:

"'Here, Higgins, here's a dime. Call both of them'."

Browns Run Win Streak To Big Ten

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND — (AP) — For a team which hasn't put its 1948 offense on display, the Cleveland Browns are doing a bit of all right.

The two-time champions of the All-America conference, using the same basic plays and formations which carried them to the 1946 and 1947 titles, were looking down on the other seven loop clubs today with a perfect record of 10 straight wins.

Paul E. Brown, coach of the champs, has had a new set of offensive maneuvers ready to spring on the opposition if the need arose —he'll tell you it's the only new thing off the "T" since that formation came into prominence— but he hasn't had to use it.

BIGGEST CROWD

Yesterday, before the biggest crowd ever to see a professional football game, a stadium-cramming throng of 82,769, his defending champs swept aside the San Francisco 49ers by 14 to 7 for their 10th straight conquest.

Until they took the field the 49ers were topping the western half of the All-America with 10 in a row, while the Browns had nine straight Forty-five seconds after the contest opened the Browns had a touchdown, and they scored again as they raced the second half kickoff back 84 yards in 11 plays.

In between the 49ers roared 82 yards in 18 plays for their lone marker, and several times they tapped at the touchdown door, only to be euchred by three fumbles and three pass interceptions as the alert Browns rose up to stave off the assaults

STATISTIC ADVANTAGE

Brown is guarding his new "secret weapon" for a four-game on-the-road windup in 15 days. Automatic Otto Graham completed 12 of 26 passes for 147 yards, and the backs piled up a 179 to 153-yard edge on the ground.

Southpaw Frankie Albert, the passing wizard of the 49ers, completed only six of 15 tosses for a puny 32 yards, a figure cancelled as the Browns ran back three interceptions for 30. Cleveland had 20 first downs to 11 for the westerners, despite the fact the invaders had a 7-1 edge in the first period.

Brown, personally, racked up the 150th victory of his coaching career since starting at Massillon high school in 1932, and the win was his 36th against three defeats and one tie since coming to the Browns.

The crowd of 82,769 was 94 up on the former record of 82,675 set by New York's Yankees and the Dons at Los Angeles last year. The huge Cleveland lakefront stadium now has both the professional baseball and football crowd records, 86,288 having seen the fifth game of the 1948 world series there.

INJURY CORNER

The Browns were pretty well roughed up. Graham played the second half with a swollen right hand. Mac Speedie suffered a shoulder separation, Tommy James was bruised or the left ankle and Bill Willis was bruised under his left eye.

Speedie James and Willis probably won't be in the New York Yankee game Sunday, the doctor said.

★

The first score came after Tommy James, Cleveland defensive halfback, recovered a fumbled kickoff on the 49ers 14-yard stripe and three plays later Quarterback Otto Graham carried the pigskin around end for the first six points Lou Groza kicked both extra points for the Browns

A high scoring battle was expected when the boys from Frisco tied the count on the 82-yard sustained drive a few minutes later. Fullback Joe Perry tallied from the one-yard line and Joe Vetrano converted

Early in the third canto Halfback Edgar Jones bulled his way over from the three-yard stripe.

DIVES TO WIN—Notre Dame Halfback Bill Gay (center) dives over arms of two Northwestern players to score the winning touchdown at South Bend, Ind., Saturday. Other players include Northwestern Back Tom Worthington (16-left), Notre Dame Back Frank Spaniel (28) and Guard Bill Fischer (72). The score came in the last quarter, Notre Dame winning, 13 to 7.—(AP photo)

★

Jake Streitmater put together a fine 623 in the Sons of Herman league at the Colony. He had games of 189, 254 and 180.

The Hetlers had a monopoly on the next three places. Steve was second with 179-214-171 — 564; Leo had 175-180-202—557, and Bill, 188-180-181—549. Heinz Ickert had 176-132-234—542 and Phil Stirtzinger, 172-173-196—541.

Hank Kathrein had the high single game of 257. However, he added a 122 and 141 to wind up with a 520.

★

Miller's High Life won two of three games from Charm Fashion in a three-game handicap match last night at Richland Recreation. High Life topped Charm by 19 pins.

Anniversary Shoot's Ideal At Ohio Club

By DON MILLER
(News-Journal Outdoor Writer)

Ideal weather and a field of the best gunners in the state combined yesterday to make the Ohio Sportsmen's Gun club anniversary shoot one of the most successful ever held.

During the course of the day an estimated crowd of 1,300 persons visited the club house, taking home more than 300 hams and turkeys

The six top shooters for the day were: C Katner, Canton, who won three hams and two turkeys; K Morton, Crestline, with two and one half turkeys and one-third ham; A. F. Kraft, Massillon, two and one half turkeys, one-half ham; Bill Waldock jr., Sandusky, three turkeys; G. E Huber, Tiffin, two turkeys, and J. Waldock, Sandusky, three turkeys.

FAMILY DOES GOOD

Of the trap shooters present, the Waldock family of Sandusky carried away most of the honors. These five men, two of them topping six and one-half feet, are among the best in the state at dropping clay pigeons As a contrast, little 12-year-old Ronnie Frey of Lexington, narrowly topping his gun for heighth, was firing right along with the best of them. Ronnie was state runner-up for the junior title this past year.

Series of colorful patches on shooting jackets showed past triumphs of many of the gunners. In several of these squads 23 or 24 hits out of 25 shots failed to win Thanksgiving turkeys while other scores just as good would win a third or half of a bird as the shooters tied.

MANY GIFTS

During the afternoon a total of 27 different gifts were awarded to members and visitors aside from the shoot. These were donated by merchants from Mansfield and vicinity.

At least 20 turkeys were won on the still shooting range, according to Chet Beer, president of the club

The next regular shoot for the club will be held Sunday, Dec. 12, Beer said with a special Thanksgiving shoot before then " a definite possibility."

Unbeaten 11's Leaving Ohio Pigskin Scene

(By International News Service)

Undefeated and untied records were as scarce in Ohio high school football circles today as Republicans planning a trip to the presidential inauguration next January.

Practically all of the top ten teams as selected last week by sports writers and sportscasters for International News Service, have either met defeat or have a tie marring their records.

Not so the leading Canton McKinley Bulldogs but a defeat for the Bup Rearick-coached boys in next Saturday's game against Massillon is not an impossibility.

GETS NINTH IN ROW

McKinley scored its ninth straight victory of the season Saturday in turning back Youngstown Wilson by a 31 to 7 score. Massillon had an easy time of it Friday night in chalking up its eighth win against one loss by inflicting a 28-0 loss on Barberton.

The top ten, however, saw the biggest upset of the season at Mansfield where the Tygers edged a previously-unbeaten Hamilton eleven. Hamilton had been ranked No. 2 team in the state before the loss to Mansfield by a 27-20 count.

Hamilton Saturday engages Middletown in another traditional neighbor-eat-neighbor battle. The Middies, tied only by Newark this season, kept on the winning side of the ledger in downing Cuyahoga Falls, 41-0.

WAITE DROPS SECOND

Newark, Martins Ferry, New Philadelphia, Gallipolis, and Alliance won games last week but Toledo Waite, ranked in a tie for the No. 10 spot in the (INS) poll, dropped its second game of the season to neighboring Libbey, 6 to 0.

Lakewood, which according to Canton scribes has been the best team to face McKinley all year, won a Saturday contest from Shaker Heights by a 21 to 6 count and thus keep the McKinley loss as the only blot on its record.

The schoolboy pigskin season comes to a practical close with this weekend's games. Several teams already have completed their schedules and cries for a post-season game between Hamilton and Canton McKinley have been placed in the out-of-order category by Mansfield.

Discuss Playoff

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Representatives from Buffalo, Baltimore and New York, now tied for the leadership of the eastern division of the All-America conference, met in Cleveland today to discuss a possible playoff game and plans for a championship contest.

Eagles Hold Slim Margin In National

(By United Press)

Their leading margin wasn't much—in fact it couldn't be slimmer—but the high-flying Philadelphia Eagles were still alone atop the eastern division of the National Football league while Chicago's Bears and Cardinals were in a deadlock for first in the west.

For the third time this year the eager Eagles marked a 45-0 score up on the slate yesterday as they drubbed the Boston Yanks. That kept them just a half-jump ahead of the Washington Redskins and their Sammy Baugh.

Meanwhile the Bears barely beat Green Bay, 7 to 6, and the Cards tripped the Pittsburgh Steelers, 24 to 7.

For the Eagles, the chief story was the passing of Tommy Thompson, aided by the running of Steve Van Buren. Thompson shot four touchdown passes of 70, 26, 20, and two yards while Van Buren contributed 134 yards on the ground. It was the Eagles' sixth win against one loss and a tie.

THREE IN FIRST

The defending champion Cardinals scored three touchdowns in the first half but were held to a field goal in the final two periods in scoring their seventh win in eight games. Two of the Chicago touchdowns came in the first three and a half minutes on a 77-yard drive ending in a 42-yard pass by Ray Mallouf and then Charley Trippi returned Bob Cifers' punt 62 yards for the second touchdown. The Steelers' only touchdown was scored by Jerry Shipkey.

The Bears met stubborn opposition against the Packers but won when rookie Bobby Layne, filling in for the injured Johnny Lujack, fired two passes in the third period, one of them a 16-yard heave to George McAfee for a touchdown. Another rookie, Al Lawler, kicked the winning point. Green Bay got its touchdown when Jack Jacobs shot a 13-yard pass to Nolan Luhn for the touchdown, but Ed Cody missed the try for the extra point.

LOTS OF SCORING

In a point-happy game at New York, the Los Angeles Rams came from behind twice to trip the New York Giants, 52 to 37. The individual stars were Dick Hoerner, who scored three times, and Bob Waterfield, who passed for two tallies and booted a field goal and seven conversions for the Rams.

Baugh had another good day as the Washington Redskins pasted the Detroit Lions, 46 to 21, but not until the Lions outraced them during the first three periods. Washington counted four touchdowns in the final 12 minutes with Baugh hurling three of them and setting up another. The Redskins' Dan Sandifer intercepted his 11th pass of the season to tie the all time league mark.

Eastern Loop All Tied Up; Browns Face 4

(By UNITED PRESS)

The unbeaten Cleveland Browns, aiming for their third straight all-America football conference championship, were a lot closer to it today as a result of their spine-tingling 14 to 7 triumph over the previously unbeaten San Francisco Forty-Niners.

Now all the Browns have to worry about is another game with the Forty-Niners on Nov. 28—plus the three other games left on their schedule.

The eastern division race was locked tighter than a bank vault with the Buffalo Bills, New York Yankees and Baltimore Colts all boasting five victories and six losses.

The Yankees climbed into the tie by dint of a 21-to-7 victory over their interborough rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Baltimore was forced to erase a 10-to-0 deficit before beating a surprisingly - stubborn Chicago Rocket team 38 to 24.

Glenn Dobbs, playing despite a painful rib injury, sparked a second half scoring drive which enabled the Los Angeles Dons to upset Buffalo, 27 to 20.

St. Louis Hockeyists Back In League Lead

(By International News Service)

The St. Louis Flyers were back on top of the American Hockey league's western division today after their victory over the Cleveland Barons—a team they couldn't defeat all season.

The Flyers gave the Barons their second loss of the season at St. Louis last night, 4-2.

Louis May Give Jim Bivins Shot At Heavy Crown

CLEVELAND—(AP)— If Jimmy Bivins fights as tough as he's been talking when he tangles with Joe Louis, the champ says he may give him a shot at the title.

Bivins has said he'll knock out Louis Wednesday night in a six-round exhibition scrap here

Whether or not that's just a come on to the customers, Louis says he'll fight Bivins in New York for the title next June if he looks good enough

On knockout possibilities, he grins "maybe so But I'll keep my eyes open"

As of today Bivins looks like the best opponent on the entire exhibition tour, he says

"It's up to the people to decide who I'm gonna fight next June," Joe told a reporter. "If the people believe Bivins put up the best showing against me, then I'll fight him for the title."

Worst Is Over for Nation's Top Grid Teams

Five Outfits Unbeaten As Skeds Wane

NEW YORK—(UP)—The five teams which rank as the leading contenders for the oh-so-mythical national collegiate football championship could afford to relax just a little today—the worst was over.

That was a comforting thought for at least three of the quintet—Notre Dame, Army and Clemson—who needed fourth period rallies to stay unbeaten last Saturday. From here on, the competition didn't look nearly so tough.

This week contender California closes out its season with Stanford, a team that can be stubborn but probably will prove an easy mark. The Golden Bears, with a 5-0 record in the Pacific Coast conference, after beating Washington State, 44-14, will be trying for an impressive performance that might lock up the Rose Bowl bid.

FINISHES WITH STATE

Michigan, 54-0 winner over Indiana, will wind up proceedings for the year by playing Ohio State this week end in a Big Nine tilt. Clemson, which beat Wake Forest 21-14, will go out of the Southeastern conference to meet independent Duquesne.

While neither California, Michigan, or Clemson figured on much trouble this Saturday, Army and Notre Dame have it even easier—an off day. The Kaydets, who dumped Penn 26-20, will be polishing up their two platoons for what promises to be a field day against winless Navy next week. Notre Dame, victory over Northwestern 12-7, still has Washington and Southern California to go.

Elsewhere around the country:

In the Ivy league, Penn and Cornell, both unbeaten in three league games, will be resting for their Thanksgiving day meeting which will decide the league title. The best league offering this Saturday appeared to be Dartmouth against Princeton, each 3-2 in the league, and the only other was the traditional Yale-Harvard tilt.

NOT IN LEAGUE

League play in the Southeastern conference will be virtually at a standstill with Georgia (5-0) out of the conference against Furman, Mississippi (5-1) idle, Tulane (4-1) out against Cincinnati, and Georgia Tech (4-2) out against the Citadel. That league's top game becomes the clash of unbeaten, but once tied, North Carolina, with once-beaten Duke. Then there's William and Mary (4-1-1) against North Carolina State (1-3-1).

In the Big Seven is found the game that may easily be the best of the day, the battle at Norman, Okla., between Oklahoma and Kansas. Neither team has lost a league game and this one is for all the marbles.

In the Big Nine, the Michigan-Ohio State game won't hold as much interest as two clashes that may determine the Rose Bowl representative. Northwestern (4-1) could apparently clinch the bid by beating Illinois (2-4) but if the Wildcats are upset, Minnesota could take the cake by stopping Wisconsin (1-4).

HOPES ON LINE

In the Southwest conference, Southern Methodist, unbeaten in league play, puts its hopes on the line when it tangles with once-beaten Baylor. Texas, also once-beaten, will be idle, ready to pounce if S.M.U. should slip. The Texans will play winless Texas A. and M., on Nov. 25.

In the Pacific Coast conference, Oregon (6-0) will try to earn the bowl bid by trampling Oregon State,

Tom Henrich, Yankee Ace, Speaks at Hot Stove Fete

Tommy Henrich, one of the old pros of the New York Yankees, will be the guest speaker at tonight's Hot Stove league junior baseball party at the Moose lodge at 6:30.

Henrich has been one of the outstanding members of the great Yankee teams starting in 1937, except for three years in the Coast Guard. A resident of Massillon, Henrich has played in three world series.

This year, Henrich was mentioned as a possible successor to Bucky Harris as manager of the Yankees Probably the most versatile member of the Yankee outfield of Keller, DiMaggio and Henrich, Tommy seems destined to wind up as a first baseman. He has had stretches at the initial hassock in six of his nine seasons with New York.

He replaced George McQuinn as the Yank first sacker through most of the 1948 campaign.

Henrich's brother Ed is a member of the junior baseball committee of the Hot Stove organization.

All youngsters who play on the 25 Hot Stove sponsored "kid" teams will be guests at the party. There'll be plenty of hot dogs and soft drinks. The refreshments are being furnished by team sponsors.

Movies of the 1948 All-Star game and the World Series will be shown.

Familiar Cry Sounding Over Buckeye State

COLUMBUS — (INS) — From throughout Ohio today came a long-familiar cry. It was:

"Beat Michigan! Beat Michigan!

A week ago that cry would have brought only a hangdog look—or even tears from a Columbus downtown quarterback—but after Ohio State's 34-7 win over Illinois Saturday, the Sunday morning coaches were smilin' thru.

They bandied about such words as "magnificent" and "great" and pinned 'em on Ohio State and its coach, Wes Fesler, who last year might as well have been a man without a country.

The sidewalk experts agreed there were no dazzling stars in the scarlet and gray lineup, but the word was:

"They just play good, solid football."

AFTER 23RD

Michigan will be after its twenty-third straight victory next Saturday in Columbus and advance dope says the northerners are the hottest outfit on the gridiron for years—anywhere.

But the last two state victories over the Illini and Pitt have the Bucks keyed to violin-string pitch—and it's a well-known fact Ohio State always plays 'way over its head against Michigan.

Moreover, Fesler said last night the Buckeyes "came out of the victory over Illinois in the best shape we've come out of any game."

The coach figures he's got his team in fine physical shape and with a fine mental "edge" and he doesn't want to spoil either one.

DAYTON — (INS) — Charleston, W Va, replaced Fort Wayne, Ind., today in the Central baseball league.

Bucyrus Gridders Attend Pro Game

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus high school's undefeated football squad attended yesterday's professional football game in Cleveland between the Cleveland Browns and the San Francisco 49er's.

The trip was sponsored by the Kibler Motor Sales, J. E. Huggins Ford Agency and the Lott Motor Sales.

Ez Charles Goes Underdog Hafer

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Ezzard Charles will take on Walter Hafer of Maysfield, Ky., tonight in Cincinnati in what Charles predicts is a stepping stone to a title bout with Joe Louis.

Charles, an overwhelming favorite in tonight's bout, is booked for a bout with Joe Baski in New York next month and the winner of that one is slated to fight Louis.

Many Honors

NEW YORK —(INS)— Calumet farm's Citation grabbed a monopoly of the honors in a poll released today by 31 of the nation's experts.

Madden To Speak Before Boosters

Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, will be the guest speaker at tonight's Tyger booster club meeting at 7:30 in the Senior high school auditorium.

He will share speaking honors with Coach Augie Morningstar of the Tygers. Morningsta. will give his ideas of the Mansfield-Hamilton game and what the fans can expect this Friday night when the Bengals play at Martins Ferry. The latter club is undefeated but has been tied once.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—Adv.

Deafened Aroused by Tiny Hearing Device

Chicago, Ill.-Wide interest is being shown by thousands of deafened people in an amazing new hearing device which now enables them to fully enjoy music, sermons and friendly companionship - and not be bothered by bulky, heavy separate battery pack and wires. It is so tiny it fits in the palm of the hand. Users of this device report easily understanding even faint voices. Accepted by the American Medical Association's Council on Physical Medicine. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 29, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement they will gladly send you a free descriptive booklet on how to overcome deafness and explain how you may test this tiny device in the privacy of your home without risking a penny. Write Beltone today.—Adv.

Grain Market

MANSFIELD GRAIN

The following prices are being paid to farmers by Honegger-Hanley Mills, Inc. and Lantz Milling Co

Wheat No. 2 red $2.17 per bu.
Corn No 2 yellow $2.00 per cwt. (old).
Oats No. 2, 32 pounds $.75 per bu.

* * *

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO — (AP) — Grains eased a bit at the opening on the board of trade today. There was no real selling pressure in the market, but the Longshoremen's strike helped to discourage buying.

Wheat started ¼-½ cent lower, December $2.32¾-¼; corn was ¼-⅜ lower, December $1.40½-⅝, and oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 80¾.

EGGS AND POULTRY

CLEVELAND (INS) — Consumer grades: AA large white 78, brown 72; A large white 75-77, brown 70-74; A medium white 63-64, brown 61-62; B large white 66-70, brown 66-68.

Wholesale Grades: (Extras) large white 66-69, brown 64-67; A medium white 56-59, brown 54-57.

Market about steady on U. S. consumer grades large white. Most quarters report demand draggy on large white. Large browns easy. U. S. A medium were a little easy. However prices unchanged. (Extras) large white and brown easy, unchanged to 1c lower. Demand declined slightly in most quarters.

Live Poultry: Fowl, colored and heavy type, 36-37; fowl, leghorn and light type 25-28; roasters 40-43; fryers and broilers heavy type, 38-40; old roosters 19-21; turkeys young hens 57-58; heavy Toms over 20 lbs. 44-45; young Toms under 20 lbs. 47-48.

Market firm on heavy fowl. While very light carryover in heavy fowl most quarters were expecting increasing interest for holiday trading with roasters firm with fancy quality in very good demand. Prices advance 1c at 40-43 Fryers and broilers in fair to good demand and higher at 38-40. Market easy on Toms over 20 lbs. and about steady on Toms under 20 lbs. Hens firm to very firm.

For Tuesday, November 16

IT would be easy, according to astral testimonies, to become involved in all sorts of difficulties, snarls and perplexities through rash, ill-considered words and acts, any kind of carelessness, which could offend not only elders, superiors and employers, but as well friends, young folk and the family. Any hope of assistance or cooperation, personal or financial, will then be forfeited. Change, travel, new agreements should be decided on a basis of well-regulated or rationalized commitments. Also the health and peace of mind should be considered.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should decide to carefully consider the advantage, happiness and friendly spirit of others, in making agreements, new conracts or change of plans and objectives. It would be hazardous to run counter to the wishes of employers, family or others whose support and friendliness may be vital for any real progress. The health and general well being could be jeopardized by hasty, distorted or confused judgments, in all relationships. For peace and prosperity adhere to regulation tactics and codes. Sign writings cautiously.

A child born on this day may be fond of change, imaginative, impressionable and given to sarcastic or equivocal speech, alienating friends or superiors, to its detriment and loss.

William H. Thomas, residing at 306 Beaurgard, Charleston, W. Awaits News On Recount

GEORGETOWN— (AP) —Blond, green-eyed Dorothy B. Kennedy will learn through a recount Tuesday whether she is to be Brown county's first woman prosecutor.

Miss Kennedy, a graduate last June of the Salmon P. Chase College of Law at the Cincinnati YMCA, was a write-in candidate for prosecutor at the Nov. 2 election.

An unofficial count gave her 2,016 votes to 1,272 for her only opponent, assistant prosecutor Angus Wilson. However, the official count cut her majority to 115 when election officials found that seven of the county's 34 precincts had given her all the straight Democratic votes cast.

Wilson then called for a recount and officials are scheduled to begin going over the ballots at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Miss Kennedy, an attractive, 29-year-old resident of nearby Hamersville, considers the job of prosecutor "a difficult one for any person.

"But I believe that through hard work I can fill the job and give Brown county a good prosecutor, even if she is a woman."

Vandenberg Boomed For Top GOP Job

'Young Turks' Would Oust Taft

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., was being advanced today as a compromise candidate for chairman of the Senate Republican Policy committee.

Though he's not seeking the post, Vandenberg was being boosted by some members of the "Old Guard," as well as some of the "Young Turks." The chairmanship was held during the 80th congress by Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O.

Cooler heads among the Republicans were warning the "Young Turks," however, to "lay off Bob Taft" in their fight for a change of command. They said that if the policy committee post is made a "personal issue," Taft will battle to keep the job—and very probably win.

Under present regulations, he would have to step down as chairman of the GOP policy-making body. But it has been suggested that the rules could be changed, or the Ohioan could seek the GOP floor leadership with its ex-officio chair at the policy table.

Actually, the "Young Turks" would like to see both the policy committee job and the floor leadership go to young "liberals." The names of Sens. Henry Cabot Lodge, Mass.; Raymond E. Baldwin, Conn.; and William F. Knowland, Cal., have been mentioned.

But, failing in that, many of them would be willing to settle on Vandenberg to avert a knockdown fight within the ranks.

It was pointed out that Vandenberg's voting record on domestic issues has been almost identical with Taft's, yet he has the warm support of many of those adopting the "time-for-a-change" view.

Vandenberg will retire as chairman of the foreign relations committee when the Democrats take over senate control in January. His views on assuming the dominant role in GOP strategy determination are not known and can only be speculated upon.

But it appeared certain that he would not openly seek the policy committee chairmanship. And there were indications that he would go out of his way to avoid any contest with Taft, whom he long has regarded as the dominant Republican spokesman in the senate on domestic issues.

Taft, now vacationing in Europe, has deferred all decisions on his role in the new congress until his return, several weeks hence.

Bells Greet New Prince

gether, and Philip went off to see his son and later to join the king and queen. Philip wore a pair of old flannel trousers with open necked shirt and a sweater.

The king ond queen, both in evening dress, hurried down the red-carpeted hall for a peep at their grandchild. They were taken in to see Elizabeth a moment before they saw the baby.

Queen Mary, 81, drove from nearby Marlborough House and went directly to see her first great-grandson.

The only family member missing was Princess Margaret. She was in Yorkshire to open an exhibition at Sheffield tomorrow. A call reached her at the home of the Earl and Countess of Scarborough at Sandbrook Park, where she was a guest.

The Daily Mirror said that Margaret, after hearing the news, joined hands with the guests at a private dinner and danced around a bonfire of pine logs on the lawn. After talking for five minutes with her mother, she was quoted as exclaiming: "How marvelous for it to have been a boy."

Hours after the birth was announced, a clamoring crowd still milled about outside the palace. The people shouted themselves hoarse with a demonstration such as the staid old palace has not seen since the wedding day of Elizabeth and Philip.

KILLED IN PLUNGE

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A two-story plunge from his room at the Franklin County home killed Herman Morris, 77, and blind, yesterday.

Meeting Called For Wednesday On Opening of Blood Center

In preparation for the opening of the Columbus Regional Blood Center of the National Red Cross, on Dec. 7, a meeting will be held in the Mansfield chapter house of the Red Cross, 309 Park avenue west, Wednesday night, it was announced yesterday by Frank Elias, chapter chairman. The public is invited.

This meeting has been planned to discuss the needs and benefits of the Blood Donor center to people of the Richland county community. Donald Jones of the Columbus staff, will be here to answer questions and to explain the methods by which the program will be started.

"While the Red Cross is financing and managing this project, the benefits from it will be felt by the people of the communities. It has been planned and will be carried out expressly for their needs and their convenience," Elias said. "And because it will be planned that way, it will take the co-operation of the entire community to make it a success."

Letters have been sent out to all the larger service clubs and organizations of the city, asking that they send representatives. These invitations have included hospital officials and industrial concerns as well as clubs.

In the meantime, while plans are being completed for the start of the national program, the blook bank is being maintained at General hospital, kept up by local contributions.

Two Seek Greek Post

Rivals Try To Form Government

ATHENS — (UP) — Greece today had two candidates for premier, as 87-year-old former Prime Minister Themistocles Sofoulis undertook to form a new government, while former Deputy Prime Minister Constantine Tsaldaris also claimed a mandate from King Paul to organize a new regime.

Sofoulis resigned Friday under pressure of a threatened break from his coalition of a faction of his own Liberal party headed by Sophocles Venizelos, who was believed ambitious for the post of war minister.

Tsaldaris was given a mandate by the king Saturday, but had been unable up to today to form a cabinet. As a result, Sofoulis was called in and asked to try again.

Both men conferred with King Paul at his Athens palace last night Each left with the understanding that he was to seek to form a government.

Tsaldaris, leader of the Populist party, which holds more seats in parliament than any other party, but does not have a majority, was working on a right-wing coalition.

Sofoulis was trying to reform a Liberal and Populist coalition.

Rape-Slayer Suspect Held

CANON CITY, Colo. —(INS)— A 26-year-old Sacramento, Cal., man was held today as the chief suspect in the rape-slaying of Theresa C. Foster, an 18-year-old Colorado university co-ed.

At the same time, police are seeking clues concerning the disappearance of two other girls, Lillian de Bell, 17, a co-ed at Colorado State College of Education in Greeley, and Mrs. Kay South, 17, a La Junta waitress.

The suspect in the Foster case was identified by Police Chief Marvin Richards as Lonnie Lee Freaka. He was arrested after Canon City police noted his "belligerent attitude" when he was given a ticket for going through a stop sign.

Municipal Fund Sought In Ashland

Council Facing Problem Tonight

ASHLAND — City council tonight will grapple with the problem of how to raise additional revenue for maintenance and upkeep of municipal facilities. Failure of the proposed three-and-a-half mill tax levy at the recent election brought the crisis.

Funds realized from the proposal were to have been used to repair streets, renovate the sewage disposal plant with the half-mill levy to maintain Brookside municipal park next year.

Mayor Louis E. Mansfield said today a complete breakdown faces city facilities. Both the mayor and council are opposed to increasing the city's debt through another bond issue so a substitute financial set-up poses a real problem tonight.

The budget commission pared $10,000 from the city's budget request, reducing it to $88,000 for next year. The city swimming pool at Brookside park is undergoing a renovation this fall with $5,000 profit realized from its operation this last season.

The park itself has been operating on a .2 mill levy which expired this year. With failure of the entire levy at the polls, the park is left without any funds for 1949, unless council comes up with a new revenue-raising program.

Killed In Rail Mishap

Word has been received here of the death of Eugene Terrell, 44, a former resident of Mansfield who died at St. Alexis hospital in Cleveland Friday afternoon.

Mr. Terrell was crushed between moving boxcars while unloading material for the T. E. Conkey company of Cleveland of which he was an employe. He was taken to St. Alexis hospital and died of injuries shortly after his arrival there.

Mr. Terrell had been a resident of Cleveland for some time and was employed as a bulk unloader for the Conkey company.

Surviving are his wife, Sue, a son, Leon of California, his mother, Mrs. Floyd Rice of Warren; two brothers, Raymond of Cleveland and Lawrence of Mansfield; and a sister, Mrs. Harry Lowe of Galion.

The measure failed to pass at the Nov. 2 election, receiving a total of 751 ballots "for" to "504" against.

The issue needed 60 per cent or better "for" ballots and received a percentage of 59.84. Recount will be made tonight by the Morrow county board of elections.

7 Orphaned By Gun Blast

KENTLAND, Ind —(AP)— Seven children, six of them of one family, were orphaned yesterday by a double shooting in the town of Goodland, eight miles east of here.

Mrs Ethel Bobbitt, 45-year-old widowed mother of six of the youngsters, was killed by two blasts from a shotgun as she and her 11-year-old son, Donald, were preparing to leave home for evening church services

State Trooper Leon Apple said she was killed by George Martin, a 49-year-old paper hanger with whom she had been keeping company The body of Martin, widower and father of a daughter who lives with an uncle in Brook, Ind., was found in his home, shot to death with the same gun.

Prices Mixed at Opening Of Stock Market Today

NEW YORK — (AP) — Stock prices were mixed today at the opening of the market

Changes were in fractions in either direction, and a number of the leaders remained unchanged.

Several blocks of stock were sold at the opening including 900 Columbia Gas, unchanged, 1,000 General Electric, up ⅛, 4,200 Curtiss-Wright, up ¼, and several smaller blocks at prices mostly fractionally lower.

The pace of trading was moderate. There was the customary opening rush which faded within a comparatively short time

The market action was in line with recent sessions which were regarded as a "holding operation" after the severe drop early last week.

Hidden Trunk Racket Revived; Mansfielder Invited to 'Bite'

An old racket originating in Mexico has reappeared and is making a bid for "sucker money" in Mansfield.

A Mansfielder today received an unsigned letter from Mexico City offering him one-third of a $385,000 fortune if he fulfilled certain conditions.

The writer of the letter said he was in prison, serving a term for bankruptcy and was trying to recover funds which he had hidden in a trunk in a customs house in the United States.

The recipient of the letter was asked to come to Mexico and pay the expenses necessary to lift the embargo on the prisoner's suitcases, one of which contains the baggage check for the cash-laden trunk, according to the writer.

The author of the letter said he would send the Mansfielder "some undeniable evidence" as soon as he received a reply.

He explained that he could not sign his name for fear that the letter might fall into the wrong hands. He asked that a reply be sent air mail to a person whose name and address he gave at the end of the letter.

The letter was typewritten and sent by airmail. It was written in faulty English with a number of misspelled words. The only signature was the letter "V."

Through out the letter the writer begged the Mansfielder to keep the matter secret.

The Mansfielder said that he had done some work for Mexican railroad workers who lived in Mansfield during the war. He thought that his name might have been obtained from one of these workers who had returned to Mexico.

The program will be in charge of James Dunlap, president of the the church's Men's Brotherhood. Mrs. J. C. McCoy is chairman of the serving committee.

Mt. Gilead Bond Issue Recount Set

Recheck Water Vote Tonight

MT. GILEAD —Tomorrow and Wednesday members of the Women's clubs of Mt. Gilead will make a drive for funds to repair the Mt. Gilead Free public library.

During the last few years expenses of the library have risen, and many repairs urgently are needed at the old building in which it is housed. Residents of Mt. Gilead will be asked for contributions to help make these repairs.

The Mt. Gilead public library is open to all residents of Morrow county. Those who have lived in the county less than one year must deposit one dollar with the librarian when borrowing the first book, but this dollar is refunded at the end of the year

Money for support of the library is derived mainly from personal property taxes. This sum varies from year to year, and at the present time it is inadequate to properly equip and operate the library.

Bucyrus Told Accidents Up

BUCYRUS—Traffic accidents in Bucyrus are on the increase, Police Lieut. Charles Ghist reported today.

Since Jan. 1, a total of 340 accidents have been reported to police compared with 345 for the entire year of 1947. During 1948, accidents have involved 687 vehicles, 600 men and 81 women.

In October, injuries from traffic accidents also hit a new high with 13 persons being hurt, the previous high being eight in May.

Lieut. Ghist reported that traffic arrests have totaled 253 since Jan. 1 Two fatalities have been caused by traffic accidents during 1948, Ghist said.

Shelby Minstrels Book Rehearsal

SHELBY — First rehearsal for the annual Show Boat Minstrel of O'Brien American Legion Post will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the Legion Home. Mrs. Myra Cook again will write and direct the production which will be staged in the high school auditorium in January.

Those who will sing in the chorus are urged to attend. Among those who appeared in the last minstrel and who are returning are: John Purdy, Karl Giller, John Patrick, George Zeiters, Dewey Roberts and Glen Davidson. Parts will be assigned tonight.

One thing, at least, that can be depended on is that the Taft-Hartley law will be given another name.

Why complain about Molotov's analysis of the American election outcome—it's no sillier than some that originated over here.

It is now reported that tons of American "comic books" are being shipped into our zone in Germany—and it may be wondered if that's a part of the "re-educational" process.

What's Coming In Labor Legislation?

WHATEVER may finally come of the insistence of labor leaders on repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, the sudden flurry of strikes coming in the wake of election is not likely to popularize the idea of removing all government restraints from organized action that imperils the public welfare.

As the analysis of the recent election reaches deeper into rural and urban voting in various states it is being revealed that what is called "the labor vote" was not the determining factor in the outcome—but that, if any one element controlled, it was the vote recorded in the rural areas and small communities rather than in large industrial centers.

Considering the extent of Democratic support of the Taft-Hartley law, as it was passed by Congress over President Truman's veto, it is now regarded as quite improbable that the new Congress will junk the law in its entirety, although its repeal may precede action on an entirely new law which will bear another name and embody some of the features of the old Wagner law and the later T-H law.

Despite President Truman's campaign promise that the Taft-Hartley law, which went into effect in June, 1947, would be scrapped, he can scarcely have meant intended removal of all restraints against impulsive acts which sometimes have disastrous results.

As the nation moves toward the promised lower price levels, and as an end comes to the present inflationary era, there will be need for readjustment of many inflated incomes, and the extent to which this downward trend is complacently accepted—by farmers and city residents alike—will determine whether the letdown can be held to a bearable recession or permitted to reach such a disastrous depression as followed the bursting of the inflationary bubble in 1929.

Similarity between the present boom and that of just twenty years ago is plainly observable to those who can remember that far back.

Why Was Ban on Gambling Lifted?

MANSFIELD presents an anomalous situation as it grows into a larger community. Its citizens give ardent support to maintenance and development of its public school system, as shown by approval of an additional bond issue at the recent election: they contribute liberally to the Community Chest; they give serious regard to problems of juvenile delinquency, and they take pride in the many things that make this an excellent city in which to live, work and rear a family.

Yet it would appear that a majority are inclined to complacently accept the open violations of law being tolerated by elective and appointive officials whose sworn duty it is to enforce ALL laws, without preferential treatment to any individuals or group.

Present reference is to the return of commercialized gambling in all of its forms, after it had been banned for two months the early part of this year, by order of Chief of Police Schwab whose action was sanctioned by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, who, as chief executive, is primarily responsible for administration policies.

An element of mystery still cloaks the procedure—but in all probability any sincere effort on the part of a grand jury would disclose the source of pressure which resulted in the about-face of the officials who are employed by Mansfield taxpayers to enforce state laws and city ordinances—not to do the deciding as to which should be enforced and which ignored.

Another Comet Flying Through Space

ONE of the most beautiful comets observed in many years, say astronomers, has been sweeping through the heavens in recent days giving earth-bound creatures in many areas something to look at and a tale to pass along to their grandchildren. It was said by those who have seen it to be so bright as to outshine the planet Venus.

Unfortunately for onlookers, a comet seems disinclined to stay long enough in one place to produce a real show, and this one is more or less another case of "off again, on again, gone again Finegan."

The brief visit of this comet should serve to direct more interest to the nocturnal heavens, and the glorious sights visible on clear nights. Young people in general, with all their modern facilities, seem to take less interest in the heavens than their grandfathers did. They might well take a pair of field glasses occasionally on bright nights, and see what can be seen up there.

More Merchant Ships Being Built

THE UNITED STATES this summer has been building more of the world's ships than previously in peace-time. In the three months ending with September, according to Lloyd's Register of Shipping, world shipbuilding was at a new high mark for the postwar period, and increase in activity in United States yards accounted for more than half of the gain from the previous quarter.

Up to the time of the recent war, this country had not been an important builder of ships, in relation to total of the world fleets. The relatively high amount of building this summer amounted to only about seven per cent of all the building under way in the world. Great Britain and Ireland remain the undisputed leaders, building more than half of all the ships. American shipbuilding facilities were greatly expanded during the war, and some of this expansion may endure.

Must Decide Who'll Lead the Elephant

THE best story in Billy Rose's very funny book, "Wine, Women and Words," has to do with one of his shows, in which there was an elephant. Jimmy Durante was caught by a sheriff in the act of stealing the elephant. "Where are ya going with that elephant?" demanded the sheriff. "What elephant?" asked Durante.

Now is the season for free advice about what the Republican party should do. This advice is a hardy quadrennial. The same admonitions have been phrased after five successive elections.

They run something like this: the Republicans must reorganize: they must be younger; they must look forward; they must look backward; they must be the liberal party; they must be the conservative party; they must not ape the New Deal; they must learn a lesson from Roosevelt; and so on.

But before we start the inquisition, we must identify the corpus.

The really pertinent question is: "What Republican party?"

Is it Dewey and the "team" that determined what he uttered as Republican doctrine?

Is it the national committee's high command, personally selected by the recent candidate?

Is it Taft, Vandenberg, Martin and the other leaders of the 80th Congress?

Is it Hoover and others who once headed the party?

Is it the conglomerate mass of voters who voted for Dewey and Warren?

What is it?

* * *

Each Blames Other.

PRIVATE and public remarks among Republican leaders since the election are caustic. Dewey is being raked from stem to stern. They are saying that he didn't say anything: that he disdained the venerable former leaders of the party, of whom some of the most distinguished did not hear from Dewey from convention to election; that he did not specifically defend the 80th Congress; and on and on.

Dewey people blame prominent people in the Republican party for inactivity. They say that state organizations, notably in Ohio, concentrated on the state ticket and failed to rally the votes for Dewey and Warren. It was the low vote that did it. And that it was the record of the 80th Congress and not the Dewey speeches and record which defeated him.

Until this clamor dies down, it will be hard to identify those who will be responsible for preparing a course of action for the party in the months and years ahead.

On Armistice Day eight years ago, Wendell Willkie made a notable post-election address. He spoke of the importance of maintaining a strong opposition. He offered to lead that opposition. And he identified the group which he proposed to lead as the twenty-two million-odd who had voted for him.

This group, if it had had cohesion, would in truth have been a mighty army. But it had only one common purpose—to beat Roosevelt. Nor did Willkie fulfill his promise. He spent his later years in matters which had little to do with building a party. In fact, many if not most Republican leaders believed he was determined chiefly to attack them. And his personal voter following melted away.

The difficulty in identifying a party out of power rises from the nature of our constitutional system and the party practices which have grown upon it. There is no party between conventions. There are people, leaders and committees which are called Republican. There are minority groups in Congress. But there is no party.

Somehow, it seems that before a program can be made, there will have to be a group of leaders which has cohesion and responsibility. Such a group does not exist today.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Thursday, Nov. 15, 1928

Operation of new city bus line through Woodland was started.

Work was started on adding second story to Schuster garage building on South Walnut street.

Mrs. Anna B. Sailer, 59, died at home of daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Hildebrand, 398 South Diamond street.

How 'Seniority' Works

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Once again you are about to see at work a system whereby a man gets paid off on his mere ability to stick around, not on his general ability.

That's the seniority system in Congress.

Under it, a man who has served longest on a committee automatically moves up to become chairman even though other more recent committee members may be smarter at the job.

This will happen when the new Congress, the 81st, takes over in 1949—and the Democrats, who have a majority and will run Congress, start setting up their committees.

(It worked the same with the Republicans when they won a majority in the 1946 elections.)

The Democrats will have a majority on every committee. A few Republicans will have to drop off, and a few more Democrats will be added.

Then the Democrat who has been on each committee longest becomes chairman.

(This year the rule may be broken a bit if the Democrats want to get tough with some of their fellow-Democrats from the south who opposed President Truman's election.

(There's a chance some of them may be deprived of a top committee spot, but right now there's no certainty that will happen.)

But the importance of the committee chairmanship cannot be overstressed. It's a key spot in Congress.

* * *

Alphabetical Preference.

THOSE committees examine every bill that's intoroduced in Congress. They can, in effect, kill a bill by ignoring it altogether. And the chairman is in a prime position to make that decision.

He can prcatically stick it in his pocket to keep the other committee members from acting on it.

Or the committee can hold hearings on a bill and twist and change it before it reaches the full House and Senate for debate and vote.

When the debate starts, a bill which a committee put together can be amended or changed on the floor, but pretty generally the House and Senate follow their committee's thinking.

So a committee chairman, if he wants, can throw a big harpoon into some of the promises President Truman and his Democrats made in the campaign.

But what if there are two men on a committee who started on it the same day, maybe 10 or 15 years ago, and have been serving on it since?

Then, won't the one with the better ability be elected chairman?

No. The seniority system is rigid on that. If Andy Adams and Billy Bell were the two men, Andy Adams would become the chairman.

Why? Because, even though they had both started on the committee 15 years ago—and even though Adams may have paid little attention to the committee—His name alphabetically is ahead of Bell's. So Adams gets the job.

The new Democratic senator from Tennessee, Estes Kefauver, has a few sharp words to say about the seniority system.

Before his election to the Senate last week, Kefauver had been a member of the House—and of House committees—for 10 years.

A year ago he wrote a book—"A Twentieth Century Congress" to point out some of the things he thinks are wrong with Congress. He said:

"Foremost among present evils is the ancient and rigid seniority system that governs the selection of committee chairmen . . . There is abundant evidence to prove that fitness and leadership are not based upon years in office alone."

As Cerf Tells It

When Irvin S. Cobb was taken on as a cub reporter for the Paducah, Kentucky, weekly newspaper, the editor reminded him "Put in plenty of names, son. Folks hereabouts like to know what their neighbors are up to." The leading paragraph of Cobb's first story read, "There was a fire in Colonel Eli Levington's stable last night. The casualties were Zenia, a dappled mare, and two cows named Laurabelle and Minnie."

As Others See It

They're Growing Up.

Time flies, and in '49 the girl child christened Nira back in the gay NRA days will be 16, and going steady with a Franklin D. Somebody.—Detroit News.

Expect New Labor Law To Replace T-H

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON —Congressman J. "I-refuse-to-testify" Thomas isn't the only member of the House un-American activities committee who didn't practice in his own office what he preached from the committee rostrum.

Another who pulled a fast one behind the taxpayers' back while investigating un-Americanism in others, was Pennsylvania's outgoing Congressman John McDowell.

Though McDowell didn't take kickbacks, he drew $5,400 annually from the government to pay a secretary, but used it instead to subsidize a local politician. The salary meant for McDowell's secretary went to the Republican chairman in his home town, Albert E. Beech of Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Beech also serves in the Pennsylvania state legislature which pays him another $,3000 each session. By profession, he is a commercial photographer. About the only thing he doesn't do is secretarial work for McDowell.

Note—Though McDowell comes from a predominantly Republican district, the voters got wise to him and sent a Democrat to Congress in his place on Nov. 2. More than anyone else, the man who defeated McDowell was a Republican editor—Bert F. Kline, who campaigned against McDowell in the Homestead Messenger and Squirrel Hill News.

Taft-Hartlye End.

IT WON'T be announced for some time, but here is a digest of backstage planning on the all-important question of banishing the Taft-Hartley Act at the next Congress:

1—After much discussion, the President and his labor advisers have decided that the T-H Act should be repealed en toto, rather than "amended down" into a form acceptable to organized labor.

2—Present plans are to make T-H repeal first on the administration's list of "must" legislation for the new Congress. In any event, President Truman will request very early action.

3—Since repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act not only will eliminate many of the restrictive curbs on labor, but also wipe out collective-bargaining privileges, and other vital sections of the old Wagner Labor Act embodied in it, a complete new bill will have to be drafted for congressional action.

You can jot it down that this new legislation will, of course, guarantee the two main provisions of the Wagner "magna charta" Act — labor's right to join unions of its own choosing and to bargain collectively with employers. It will also provide:

A.—The cosed shop, banned under the Taft-Hartley Act, will be restored.

B.—The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, now an independent agency, will be returned to the labor department and given greater latitude in dealing with labor disputes.

C.—Presidential fact-finding boards, now limited to probing labor disputes, will be given the power to make recommendations for strike settlement.

* * *

Anti-John L. Lewis.

THERE will be some restrictions on labor, yet to be worked out. The President is certain to ask for a ban on both jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts. Also, a special section of the new law will deal with strikes that create national emergencies, such as John L. Lewis's tieups of the coal-mining industry.

An extended "cooling-off period," probably as long as 90 days, during which it would be unlawful to strike, may be written into the law.

Some of Truman's advisers, however, doubt that this will be enough to cope with Lewis and have been urging that the door be left open for recourse to the courts in national strike emergencies.

President Truman is opposed to the injunction procedure of stopping strikes. At the same time he realizes that court action may be the only means of hobbling unscrupulous labor leaders who endanger the public welfare. This is the toughest section of the bill to be written and the inside betting is that the wastebaskets will overflow with discarded drafts before the White House comes up with the $64 answer.

Washington Calling

Russia Shifts Strategy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE EVIDENCE grows that shift in Russian foreign policy is taking place. While in all probability it is no more than a change of strategy, it is, nevertheless, important.

Stalin's statement about peace made during the election campaign in this country, Molotov's remark that the Republican defeat was a defeat for those who wanted war, and the way in which Soviet newspapers grabbed an unfounded rumor that President Truman might go to Moscow for a meeting all add up to a change. From the faithful here and abroad, we are getting prompt echoes of the new line.

Behind the new emphasis, there may be the belated realization that Soviet tactics in the recent past have contributed largely to America's preparation for a possible war.

The draft and the other new defense measures hardly would have been passed by Congress if it had not been for Moscow's persistent belligerence expressed in every form of attack and denunciation.

The bosses in the Kremlin have made one crashing blunder after another if their real objective was to keep this country disarmed and indifferent.

Consider what would have happened if Molotov had accepted the invitation to participate in the Marshall Plan when he came to Paris in the summer of 1947 with his 123 experts. Russia and her satellites could have sabotaged the concept from the inside.

The blockade of Berlin was intended to force Western allies out of that outpost with shame and humiliation before the world. That move disastrously backfired when the miracle of the airlift proved to Europe the astonishing power of the U. S. air force.

So, "peace, it's wonderful," is the new line. One of the loudest echoes has come from the incredible Johannes Steel. Steel, who once ran for Congress on the American Labor party ticket with the backing of Henry Wallace, visited the satellite countries some time ago. In his "report on World affairs," a monthly news letter, he carried propaganda interviews with all the Comiform puppets and even—this was before the break—with Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia.

Now Steel says, "There will be no war in 1949." He goes further than that:

"Notwithstanding all warmongering, we state categorically that there will be no war between the United States and the Soviet Union for the rest of 1948 nor in 1949; and that there is not one chance in 25 that there will be war in 1950."

* * *

Looking For Mistakes.

STEEL attributes this partly to America's failure to gain support before the United Nations for the charge that the Berlin blockade represents a threat to peace. He also says that American "capitalists," seeing the inroads of communism after World War II, have become fearful of what might happen after another global conflict.

Even though the new emphasis should develop into a campaign for peace, it is not likely that the constant Soviet harassment in Berlin and elsewhere would cease.

And certainly the Kremlin bosses will be ever ready to exploit U. S. mistakes.

One of those mistakes, in my opinion, is the decision to turn Ruhr industry back to German ownership. While protests may be damped down by the harsh necessities of the moment, this goes against the view of western Europe and most opinion in England.

It is a powerful propaganda weapon handed to the Russians. Many people in this country are coming to feel increasingly that controls in Germany are being put back in the hands of those who will use them once more for aggression and war.

The position of the United States in Paris is not too strong. Our delegation is vulnerable on several points in the Berlin dispute. The nations not directly involved seem inclined to call down a plague on both the major contenders as the wearisome wrangle goes on.

This may be the moment for a broad advance toward at least a temporary peace.

Drop In Butter Price.

The shift in eating habits from high-priced butter to lower-priced margarine is reflected in a pronounced drop in per capita butter consumption as compared with pre-war years and an accompanying rapid increase in margarine consumption.

As a result the recent sharp drop in butter prices that would once have gladdened the hearts of housewives is today a matter of indifference to a large proportion of them. For the gap between butter and margarine prices is still too great to encourage any large amount of buying on the part of families that have become accustomed to margarine.

Butter is a commodity in short supply in relation to potential demand. Hence high prices are to be expected. In fact butter prices staged a limited comeback last week. But, as a result of overpricing, it has lost its hold on a large section of the consuming public—possibly forever.—Washington Post.

Wild Geese Head South

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE afternoon was dark and lowering. Wisps of fog blew by me in short, dense waves. The cloud ceiling was low, the air chill, so that I drew my overcoat about me and shivered.

Warm Indian summer days of pleasant skies were past; leaves were faded and limp, like wet, soggy blankets underfoot. Snow seemed about to come driving out of a dark billowing cloud that approached from the northwest.

I left some shocks of unhusked corn behind me, making sure to tie it well and stand the fodder tight. The wind swished through low-lying grass and weeds, and an indistinct sound began to approach from beyond the zone of woodland on the hill. Not dogs—no—wild geese, I thought, and stopped to stare skyward and to listen.

Then, out of the murky sky, I saw the lone leader of a flying wedge, that cleared the woods and the hill — thirty on the flanks — accenting the clouds and making the echoes vibrate. Sound and motion mingled so near overhead that I seemed to hear the unison of many wings and to feel a vibrant urge that was wild and free.

Confidently they sounded their notes of weird assurance and went swiftly above the clouds and the fog and the dimly seen earth toward a homeland far to the south, where the sunshine always waits and the waters are warm and blue.

Canada geese, gray geese, "honkers," they go by various names over North America. They alight on quiet water and swim with stately dignity, pausing only to up-end and stretch their long necks under water for vegetation or a mouthful of sand as an aid to digestion.

A band of wild geese stations a sentry or two to warn them of approaching danger. Three feet long, with white patches on each cheek, their gray bodies make a formidable attack on any common enemy. Each goose, under normal circumstances, hatches five to nine goslings, while father gander stands by to guard the family with his life, if necessary.

The southward flight must be a grand adventure for the young geese, I should think, and a nostalgic pilgrimage for the old ones. Their voices stir something primitive in every man who hears, and their passing is a thrill I look forward to every autumn.

KATHLEEN NETHERO WED TO FRANK MASTANDREA

Nuptial Vows Exchanged Sunday Afternoon In Double Ring Ceremony at Methodist Church.

THE First Methodist church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Kathleen Nethero and Frank Eugene Mastandrea Sunday at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white baby mums, palms and ferns. Two seven-branch candelabra were placed on each side of the altar.

Miss Nethero is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Nethero, 332 West Fifth street, and Mr. Mastandrea is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mastandrea, 368 Newman street.

Mrs. W. L. Naas presided at the organ for the nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white wool suit for her wedding. She wore a white head band with a waist-length veil attached. Black accessories were worn with her costume. Miss Nethero carried a bouquet of white roses and mums.

Miss Katherine Nethero, twin sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue dress with light brown accessories. Miss Marcene Roberts, a close friend of the couple, was the bridesmaid. She wore a light grey crepe dress with black accessories. Both attendants had corsages of pink roses.

Mrs. Nethero chose a green satin dress with brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Mastandrea was attired in a grey crepe dress with black accessories. Yellow roses were worn by each mother.

Raymond P. Mastandrea, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The guests were escorted to their pews by George Berick, friend of the bridegroom, Harry Nethero and William Nethero, both brothers of the bride.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors. Seventy guests were in attendance. The table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake with multi-colored baby mums at each end of the table. Miss Katherin Nethero and Miss Ann Schoenman presided at the table.

The new Mrs. Mastandrea wore her wedding costume when leaving for her honeymoon through northern Ohio.

After Nov. 22 the couple will be at home at 126 Willow street.

Mrs. Mastandrea is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and is employed at the Sears Roebuck and company. Mr. Mastandrea graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and is co-owner of the Band M Electric.

Out-of-town guests were present from Poquonock Bridge, Conn., Ashland, Holmesville, Millersburg, Pittsburgh, Pa. and Chicago, Ill.

Mary Rhoads Given Party At McFaddens

Miss Mary Rhoads, bride-elect of Jacques G. Edwards, was feted recently at a party given by Mrs. Wayne McFadden, 613 Coleman road, and Mrs. Paul Auxter.

Twenty guests were in attendance for the dessert-bridge. Refreshments were served at small tables which were centered with lighted tapers and floating white mums.

Prizes for the high scores were awarded to Mrs. Charles Betz, Mrs. Calvin Porter, Mrs. George Gallagher and Miss Alice Rhoads.

When the honoree received her shower of miscellaneous gifts, the items were presented by little Tommy Auxter, who was dressed as Cupid and came into the room pulling a small white float which held the gifts.

Miss Rhoads will be wed to Mr. Edwards Saturday, Nov. 27, at 7:30 p. m. in the First English Lutheran church. Open church will be observed.

Seekers Bible Club Entertained

Mrs. Joseph Bertka, 416 West Fourth street, was hostess to the Seekers Bible club recently.

Mrs. Ervin Remy used as the subject of her devotions "The Greatest Thing in the World."

Mrs. Bertka, vice president, was in charge of the business session. The study of the evening was the 16th chapter of Acts and Paul's second missionary journey.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Margaret Bender, Cook road, with the date announced later.

Lorene Perry Becomes Bride Of James Lake at Parsonage

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the marriage of Miss Lorene Perry, 41 Chestnut street, and James A. Lake, 12 Cappeller court. The ceremony was solemnized Oct. 22 at the home of Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner, West Second street. A double ring service was used.

Miss Perry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Perry, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Shriver of Cambridge, Ohio, are the parents of the bridegroom.

For her wedding the bride chose a powder blue gabardine suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Attending the couple were Miss Nelda Payton, cousin of the bride, who wore a navy blue suit and a corsage of yellow roses, and Charles Caugherty.

The bride attended Mansfield Senior high school and Mr. Lake was graduated from Cambridge high school, and is employed at the Humphryes Manufacturing company. They are residing at the Chestnut street address.

Bedroom Decor Should Reflect Your Own Personality and Style

By MARIAN WEST

IN DECORATING your hall, living room, and dining room, you have to plan schemes that will please everyone. But your bedroom is different. A bedroom need please only the person who uses it.

"Personalized furniture is the trend in Mansfield today," a local furniture dealer said. "People are planning their groupings according to the personality of the room," he added.

For reading and writing in your room, a small desk and a few bookcases will fit perfectly around that large corner window. And if you prefer a nightstand of your own, then the popular twin tables, instead of one sandwiched between two beds, will do the trick.

Twin dressers with the "his" and "her" sections are so practical. No more arguing about who is using whose drawer. And drawers are much shallower and more numerous. This eliminates that desperate last-minute shuffling of clothes to find that handkerchief or bow tie on the very bottom.

"Modern bedroom furnishings are selling much faster here than periods," the salesman commented. Odd chests, shelves, and box springs mounted on legs are just as smart as complete bedroom suites, and much more flexible. Many of the simple modern pieces are so versatile that they can easily be used in almost any room in the house, this is an important point in the event that a smaller bedroom is the result of a change in address.

If your budget does not allow wall-to-wall carpeting, buy large throw rugs. Or use several matching small shag rugs. Children's floors get such heavy wear, you'll find an all-over covering like linoleum is most practical.

Let curtains set the mood of your bedrooms. If it's modern or formed, use straight - hanging sheer with floor-length overdraperies. In less formal rooms, almost anything goes — muslin, chintz, organdy or cotton dress material. Bedroom windows are open most of the time so make sure your curtains are washable.

"Furnishing should be done with an eye toward function," the dealer said, referring to the combination guest bedroom and study. Your guest room-study is an ideal spot for listening to records, writing letters or sewing. There's a lot of living in your guest room—so don't let it stand idly waiting for guests.

The best color for your bedroom is your favorite color. If you want to use a bright color or bold-paper, go ahead. But it's wise to limit it to the wall behind the bed and paint the other walls a more restful color.

A provincial bedroom in walnut finished birch, is developed in daffodil yellow and emerald green. The quilted chintz top of the bedspread has a floral wreath design in yellow. It ruffles the solid yellow chintz draperies, tops the yellow vanity skirt, and covers the wood framed headboard. Double chests extend along one wall above which is hung a gold leaf mirror, and on which lamps with bases of walnut and shades of shantung, have a compromising appeal where Mr. and Mrs. share a double unit.

The cotton rug is deep green, and the one chair and settee placed before a small table set with a coffee pottery service of green, chartreuse and brown plaid, are upholstered in solid green. Fruit prints are hung on the bold green and white striped papered wall.

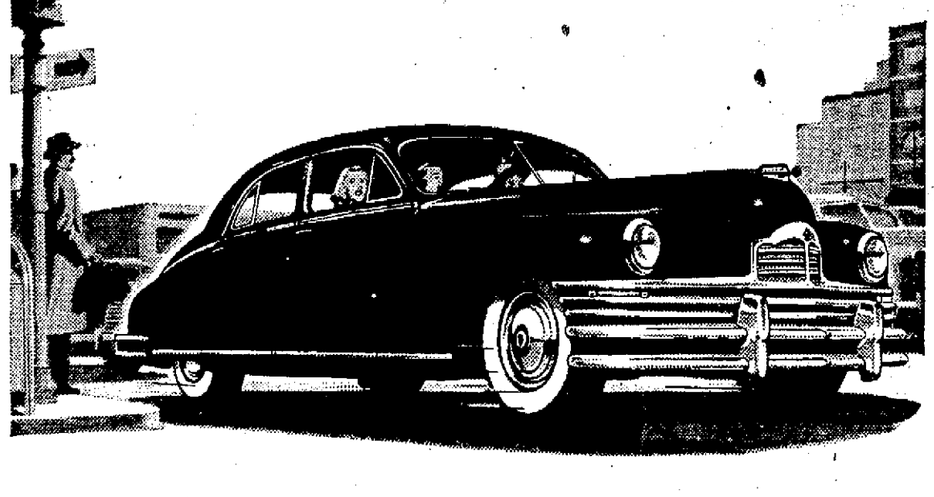
How to smile your way through a traffic snarl



Come in—find out how Packard takes the tension out of city driving!

Here's a car that meets all the demands of downtown traffic. And handling ease is only an ever-present part of the story.

What impresses you first, in this sleek, roomy Packard, is the way you can see—the wonderful feeling of always knowing exactly where the front, sides, and rear of your car "are at!" It puts an end to all the old "squeeze plays" . . . whether you're cruising or parking.

Next you'll marvel at the turbine-smooth trigger-quick responsiveness of Packard power. You simply point to a sudden opening in the traffic jam and—you're through it!

Above all, you'll prize the restful riding ease . . . the sure-footed roadability . . . the husky construction that brings relaxing comfort in any rush-hour snarl.

And when you head this eager, roadworthy Packard down an open highway—!

But come in first for the city story. It's one of the big reasons why the new Packard Eights are the greatest ever built!

More Spent For Food

Mansfielders spend more per person for food than the average American city, a copyrighted survey in Sales Management showed today.

Food purchases in Mansfield last year in meat markets, groceries, delicatessens and the like came to $11,705,000. This was at a rate of $254 for each man, woman and child in the city as compared with a national per capital average of $218.

The survey revealed that Mansfielders, because of their better earnings, were able to spend a larger part of each dollar for food than persons in most cities. Locally, 21.1 per cent of all retail expenditures were for food.

In the other retail categories investigates, general merchandise and drugs, Mansfield is also a standout city. Purchases of general merchandise reached a peak of $8,969,000. Drug store buying was at the high level of $1,324,000.

Seeks Higher Pay to Court

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Salary raises for the chief justice and members of the Ohio supreme court were recommended Saturday by the council of delegates of the Ohio Bar association.

Closing a two-day meeting here, the council recommended the salary of the chief justice be raised from $12,600 to $20,000 a year. It also recommended the salaries for supreme court judges, now $12,000, be raised to $18,000 a year.

The council, which is the legislative body of the bar association, said the increases would put Ohio supreme court salaries in line with with those in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Heartbreak and Humor Appear In The Form of Postwar Anecdotes

NEW YORK—(AP)—Our menu for today is two short stories.

The friends who told them to me thought the stories were new and true. But a thing can be new and true to one person and old and false to another. How else can you explain love, hamburger and Santa Claus?

Personally, I have never heard the first story before. And it may be true. The second story—in one variation or another—has probably been told since the Greeks camped outside Troy.

But a restaurant can't change its whole bill of fare every day. And with that cautious preamble, let us go on to the stories:

A beautiful lady went into a fashionable Fifth avenue store to buy a new dress. There was a strangeness in her manner that caught the salesgirl's interest.

It was the lady's fixity of purpose. She seemed to know exactly what she wanted. When she had selected a dress, she went into another room to have it fitted.

"I want the sleeves here," she said, pointing to her arm. "And I want the skirt to fall exactly here." And she indicated the length.

The fitter looked up and objected politely:

"That isn't the way they are wearing them this year. It's out of fashion."

"I know," said the lady. "But I am going to San Francisco to meet my husband. He's been with the army overseas. Now he's coming home. And when I meet him I want to be dressed just as I was when I told him goodbye."

"Where has your husband been" asked the fitter, pleasantly.

"Guadalcanal," replied the lady.

"All this time in Guadalcanal?" said the fitter.

"Tes."

And suddenly the fitter understood her mission. He bent to his task. He did not want to look up into the lady's eyes.

The locale of the other tale is Berlin.

A German family had been receiving gift packages from relatives in America to supplement their diet of potatoes, more potatoes—and still more potatoes.

In one box came a small package containing a mysterious powdery substance. There were no directions on the package on how to cook it, and the hausfrau was stumped.

"How shall I prepare it?" she asked. The family went into a huddle over the problem. It was an exciting problem—anything having to do with food is exciting in Germany.

Each member in turn examined the package.

"Perhaps," said the hausfrau doubtfully, "I should wait until I can write back and find out how it should be used." . . .

This proposal was voted down immediately as a waste of time.

"The Americans eat so much dehydrated food," grumbled the husband. "It must be soup flavoring. Yes, that is it. Put it in the soup."

So into the soup pot it went. The family couldn't see that it added anything to the flavor, but they agreed it certainly was filling.

Two weeks later a letter from America arrived. The letter said:

"It is with much sadness we inform you that dear uncle Fritz has passed away. Because of his long desire to return again to the fatherland, we had him cremated

"We are sending his ashes in the next parcel."

Points Out That He Was First To Report on Stalin-Truman Meeting

MEMOS TO ALL EDITORS

Commentators and wire news services credited a Washington man as the source for the latest report of Truman and Stalin meeting in Moscow. . . . It was published Monday morning. . . . The night before we reported: "The hottest rumor in Washington tonight is about another Truman-Stalin meeting at some neutral place" ....White House spokesmen denied the Washington version, which probably goes for ours, too.

But one of Mr. Truman's staunchest supporters (the only Northern publisher we know of, that is) told us the week before: "You can say with authority that there is a Moscow Mission to the U. S. in the works"....Which we did.....Weeks before that one, we were told to expect another Russian "peace offensive"....The face that the Washington story was published in Russia certainly indicates that Moscow is in a mood to dicker.

You cannot quote the President unless he okays it So we are not quoting him ... But early last April (long before the Vinson-to-Moscow story exploded) this reporter suggested the President fly there... It was suggested to Mr. Forrestal, Mr. Symington and Mr. Clark Clifford among others high in the Gov't.

"And God forbid," we said, "THAT THE President is killed in the attempt. He'd go down in the books as another man who died for peace. Anything to stop this war so many believe is coming!"....We p.s.'d: "His effort would capture every mother's and father's heart in the land and probably sweep him back into the White House."

Mr. Clifford at the White House said: "We appreciate the melodramatic impact of your suggestion, but if the President flew to Moscow to visit Stalin it would be a mistake. Before the President was air-borne back every Russian microphone would be shouting that Stalin, the Great Man of Peace, had just told the American President there must be no war, etc., etc. And make Americans appear to be the warmongers".

Later, in New York that night, we read the front pages, which reported (from London) that 14 members of Parliament felt the situation had so deteriorated, a meeting should be held at once among Truman, Attlee and Stalin"....We telegraphed it to the above mentioned men: "Just read this from London. Scooped again, dammit!"

Following the London dispatch many Congressmen, Senators and gov't people (and Wallace) tried to steal the show with the same "demand". Then, recently the Vinson angle atomic'd....We asked AP and UP men in Washington: "Whose idea was sending Vinson to Moscow?"....One replied: "Clark Dhfford's He thought it would be a terrific idea to insure the President's re-election" ...Later a scribe said that wasn't true....I suspect it was the President's.

From Girl Friday: "Your item that Eisenhower's reward for refusing the nomination may be Forrestal's Defense post must have been wishful thinking. No commissioned officer is eligible for the Sec'y of Defense job, unless he's been separated from the military for ten years. This doesn't apply to GI'. Ike is a 5-star man for life. I dare you to print this!"

Car Stolen, Four Other Autos Looted

Aerials, Ornaments Reported Taken

One car was reported stolen and four others were looted in Mansfield over the week end, police and sheriff's deputies said today.

Mabel Hannan, 68 North Diamond street, told deputies a black, 1938 Plymouth coupe, license N-5874, was taken from Mancrest drive late Saturday night or early Sunday.

Ralph Kennedy, 67 Grasmere avenue, reported to deputies last night that his car was ransacked of three wool blankets and six boxes of nylon hose while it was parked at Helen's Lunch on Springmill road about midnight Saturday. Kennedy valued the hose at $28.50.

A thief with an apparent taste for car aerials and radiator ornaments was sought by police after three Mansfielders reported their cars stripped of the accessories during the week end.

H. N. Wood, 221 West Fourth street, reported Sunday the aerial and radiator ornament were taken from his car while it was parked in his garage Saturday night.

A similar theft was reported yesterday by Lloyd Keifer, 264 Herman avenue, who said he believed the theft occurred Friday night during the football game. Keifer said he parked his car on West Park drive.

Charles Lex, 20 Lexington avenue, reported to police early Sunday that his aerial was taken from his car while the auto was parked near the Ohio theater Saturday night.

Gets Report Of Survey

Report of the study committee of the Richland County Child Welfare will be submitted at a meeting Thursday night in room No. 202 at John-Simpson junior high school, Vernon Lawrence, president of the council, announced today.

The committee, which includes 20 Mansfield men and women interested in the Child Welfare situation here and appointed by the council, will submit for approval a number of recommendations based on the recent state survey of the Child Welfare situation here.

These recommendations will be made to the county commissioners following approval or revision by the general council Thursday night

The meeting will open at 7.30 p m., and Lawrence will preside.

Death Claims Noted Writer

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Roark Bradford, versatile author of "Old Man Adam and His Chillun," from which the stage hit "Green Pastures" was adapted, died at his French quarter home Saturday. He was 52

Bradford, also noted for his other Negro folk tales, had been in ill health for some time. Mrs. Bradford said that he died from amoebiasis which he contracted while serving with the U. S. Navy in French West Africa in 1943.

Mrs Bradford said the author thought burial archaic and that in accordance with his wishes his body will be cremated and the ashes dropped into his beloved Mississippi river.

Aids Veterans, Families For 21 Years

Mrs. Cochran Leaves Service Post

By DOUG CHEVALIER

Mrs. Della M. Cochran today is concluding a long career as clerk-investigator for the Richland County Soldiers Relief commission.

Beginning tomorrow, she will go on inactive status until her resignation becomes effective Dec. 31. Because of her 21 years of service to Richland county, a farewell dinner is being planned for early in December.

County officials and heads of veterans' organizations will be invited to the dinner.

Mrs. Cochran, a widow, lives at 501½ West Fourth street. She has been a Mansfielder since 1919 when she moved here from Napoleon, O., her home town.

The daughter of a Civil War veteran, she became a member of the Soldiers' Relief commission Dec. 21, 1927, and served on the commission until 1945. The law pertaining to commission members was changed that year, and it was thereafter required that the membership be representatives of the American Legion, the Spanish-American War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and veterans of World War II.

When Mrs. Cochran was on the commission members had to be Civil War veterans, their widows, or children. It consisted of three members instead of the present five.

Her fellow members of the commission in the early days were George Ricketts and S. Finn Bell, both Civil War soldiers.

Activities of the commission then were limited as compared with present operations, she recalls

PAYS $3,000 MONTHLY

"At the first meeting I attended we paid out $430 for the month and thought it was an awful lot," she says. "Now the board puts out nearly $3,000 a month on soldiers' relief."

She has njoyed her work immensely, she says, particularly the case work that brought her in close contact with needy families. She cherishes the memories of some of the people she has helped get back on their feet.

"That's the trouble with expanding. I used to go all over the county investigating, but of course that's impossible now that we have so many cases." she says with a wistful smile. "I always used to make friends with the families I was investigating—and it wasn't hard for me because I like people."

Admitting that dealing constantly in human misery could become depressing, Mrs. Cochran says she joined many women's organizations to instill a bit of gayety into her life. She is a member of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, the Women's Relief Corps, the Miriam Rebekah lodge, and the Daughters of America.

She holds office in every one of those clubs. She was secretary of the Community Chest for five years, and is an active participant in the functions of the First Presbyterian church

As to her plans for the future Mrs Cochran says, "I'm going to rest a while. Then I'll start up my little shop in my home." The shop she mentions specializes in needlework. Fine embroidery has long been her hobby. She is proud of American cut lace embroidery.

She fully intends to keep up an active life "I couldn't bear not to be doing something," she said.

VETS' CLERK RESIGNS—Mrs. Della M. Cochran, shown at work in her office, will be the guest of honor at a farewell dinner next month. She is finishing 21 years' service with the Soldiers' Relief commission.

First Aid Classes Set

Coursts Offered At County Schools

The first aid program of the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross is getting into full swing this week with a full slate of classes scheduled, John H Finefrock jr., chairman of the first aid committee, announced today.

A class for boys will be started this afternoon at Shiloh and one for the girls at the Shiloh high school Tuesday afternoon. Meanwhile Gerald Coron, first aid instructor, is teaching four days each week at Lexington and Friday afternoon at Bellville.

Wednesday, the Parent-Teacher association of Bellville will join in a first aid class to be taught by Mrs. Florence Smotherman, a Red Cross first aid instructor.

Girl Scouts also are coming in for their share of instruction. Mrs. Smotherman teaches a class on Tuesday and Friday between 4 and 5 p. m. Mrs. Elizabeth Brochers instructs a class of Scouts at their Town House. A third group is being taught each Wednesday between 4 and 5 p. m. at the chapter house with Coron as instructor.

Lorain May Tax Amusement Devices

LORAIN — (INS) — Lorain city council was to act tonight on six revenue-raising ordinances which will require permits for bingo games, baseball ticker tape service, vending machines, and other such devices.

A dollar permit will be required on bingo games, many of which are operated by church and fraternal organizations, and the city will have the power to collect an additional five per cent of the gross business of each game.

Dishes, Utensils Found In Highway

A set of dishes and other articles were found on a road at the Mohawk Hill between Lucas and Perrysville Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported.

The finders were Leonard Lumsford, Pinhook, and Arthur McCurdy, Mansfield, R. D 4. Other articles found with the dishes were a large tarpulin, a waffle iron, a toaster and a metal ash tray.

Nurses' Director To Address Council

Members of the Mansfield P-TA council will meet Tuesday at 7:45 p. m. at room No. 207, John Simpson Junior high school. Preceding the general meeting, the executive committee will meet at 7 p. m. Miss Clara Schumm, director of nurses for the Mansfield Health department, will be the guest speaker.

NET INCOME BOARD

CLEVELAND —(AP)—Alleghany corporation reported a consolidate net income today of $3,031,232 for the first nine months of 1948 compared with $907,252 last year. The figure did not include profits and losses on security transactions.

Toastmasters' Club To Receive Charter

A charter will be presented to Mansfield's newly-organized Toastmasters' club Saturday night at a dinner meeting at the Sky Club.

V. L. Blinn, of Akron, governor of district No. 10 of the Toastmasters International, will present the charter and speak briefly at the meeting.

The Toastmasters will present a sample of the regular program held each week at the YMCA. In this program there are four who speak and four who criticize in addition to one member who acts as master of ceremonies for the entire meeting.

It is expected that between 100 and 120 will be at the meeting. Guests will include members from Akron, Cleveland, Columbus and other area cities.

The Mansfield chapter of the Toastmasters' International was organized recently by Maurice W. Taylor, executive secretary of the YMCA. At the present time it has 25 active members; the limit is 30. During the recent Community Chest campaign, the club furnished speakers for commentary in connection with the Chest film which was furnished clubs and organizations here.

Present officers of the club include Harry Ahl, president; C. F. Coup, deputy governor of the club; George Connor, vice president, S. S. Rice, secretary; Ralph Martin, treasurer; Allen Sanford, sergeant-at-arms; W. G. Reed, educational chairman, and Harold Mansfield, publicity and public relations chairman.

Police Hunt Slayers of 2

BOCA RATON, Fla. —(AP)— A statewide dragnet was spread today for the slayer of nationally-known Sculptor Leno Lazzari and his pretty wife, Louise.

Lazzari, about 48, and his wife, the former Louise Delea of Brooklyn, 42, were shot to death in their modernistic studio-home early yesterday morning.

Police Chief W. H. Brown said robbery apparently was the motive. Mrs. Lazzari's purse was missing and Lazzari's pockets had been turned out and no money was found in them.

The bodies were discovered shortly after 1 p. m. (EST) yesterday by Mrs. Marjorie Castiglione, a friend who was to have been a dinner guest.

Brown termed it a "cold-blooded double murder for money."

BOY SALESMEN—

Householders in Mansfield are being visited by boys selling electric light bulbs. The young salesmen are members of Half-Century Hi-Y club (its members are due to graduate in 1950. The club is selling bulbs under a special arrangement with the Ohio Public Service. Half the profits go to the club treasury—the other half to the YMCA world service fund. The money earmarked for the fund go to buy Bibles and recreational equipment for boys in foreign lands.

★

SCHEDULES DISRUPTED—

School curriculum these days at Johnny Appleseed is just plain "upset," G. W. Harmony, principal says. The reason? Replastering and painting of all classrooms. Since it was built the school has been troubled with "moisture penetration" so last summer the outside was water-proofed and now all the wals have to be replastered where the moisture seeped through. When the plastering is done in each classroom, the painters move in and give the wals their first coat of paint. It will be a long, drawn-out job, according to Harmony. Meanwhile, classes are being shifted around to accommodate plasterers and painters.

Rusk Sees Legal Obstacle

Land Owners File Request

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk told a group of petitioners who want the Rocky Fork creek channel changed north of Mansfield that they petitioned the wrong agency.

The request had been filed with the county commissioners. Rusk said it should have gone to the Mansfield Conservancy district.

The area involved in the request is a short distance north of the Empire steel plant. Rusk said the changes, if authorized, would necessitate construction of a new bridge on Bowman street road over the Rocky Fork at that point.

Ten property owners requested widening and cleaning of the creek channel and changing of its course.

Rusk said their request was "outside the legal competence of the county engineer's office." Such a project, he told the petitioners, was under the jurisdiction of the Mansfield Conservancy district.

The conservancy district, however, has been inactive for a number of years.

COSTS CITED

Rusk based his objections to having the project handled by his department on the fact that under county ditch laws, heavy construction which would be made necessary by the job would be beyond the legal and finanical limitations of the county engineer.

He pointed out that the plans call for a new bridge about 1,000 feet from the present structure, and a new pipeline to the Empire Steel plant would have to be built. The steel company pumps the water it uses for cooling processes from Rocky Fork.

The petitioners said the channel should be improved to take care of the water that frequently floods their lands. The drainage problem was aggravated when the city built municipal airport, they said water from the airport now drains into Rocky Fork.

Rusk said he would submit a report to the commissioners, asking that the county engineer's office be absolved from any participation in such a project.

The petitioners said they would register their reasons for their request in writing and present them to the commissioners.

Charges of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors and being the keeper of a place where they are illegally sold were brought against Lillian Jones, 506 Lily street, in municipal court today.

The cases was continued until Dec. 2. No plea was entered. She was arrested by state liquor department agents Saturday night at 224½ North Diamond street.

Harvey G. Sutton, 1277 Woodville road, was fined $100 and lost his right to drive for six months after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The court suspended $50 of the fine on provision he pay damages to Burnace Mawhorr and V. R Bollheimer

Ecaline Marone, of Wooster, and Coleman V. Back, Longview avenue, charged with unsafe operation, were fined $15 and $5 and costs, respectively.

David Rockford, Marion, was fined $10 and costs for speeding.

Jesse Miller, Loudonville, pleaded innocent to a charge of non-support brought by Estella Stroble and won a continuance until Wednesday.

McGregor Lists Costs

Representative J Harry McGregor today reported his personal expenses for his successful re-election campaign were $1,948. Personal receipts were reported at $680 His committee receipts were $5,700 and expenditures were $6,298. Unpaid bills amounting to $598 were reported.

C. L. Mitchell, who was elected state representative on the Democratic ticket, reported expenditures of $147 and a contribution of $50 His opponent, Neil Robinson, Republican candidate for the office, reported expenditures of $278 and no contributions

Work on Recreation Center Pushed By Richland Groups

Last-minute touches are being put on the garage of the new Reding home at the Richland Rural Life Center in Weller township by 4-H club members. Within a few days they expect to move the poultry house to the new four-acre location at the corner of Crall road and the lane which leads back to the center.

These two steps are a part of the increasing activity at the Center which point to a winter remodeling of the big barn into a dining room and recreational hall in preparation for a summer program next year.

Recently, the new four-room house which the Center built for Floyd Reding and his sister, Miss Bertha Reding, was opened to the public Several hundred rural residents gathered at the home to inspect the new rooms and to view the Center area.

Harry Stroup, chairman of the ways and means committee of the board of trustees, has announced a rummage sale near Shelby, the first step in a fund-raising campaign to insure completion of the Center.

Among contributions recently given to the Center fund, was $250 from the girls' club directed by Mrs. Harold Tingley. Thomas Sheppard, president of the organization was handed ten $10 bills, a bag filled with nickles totaling $25, $75 in checks and an additional $50 made from the sale of a boxed dessert.

More Spent For Food

Mansfielders spend more per person for food than the average American city, a copyrighted survey in Sales Management showed today.

Food purchases in Mansfield last year in meat markets, groceries, delicatessens and the like came to $11,705,000. This was at a rate of $254 for each man, woman and child in the city as compared with a national per capital average of $218.

The survey revealed that Mansfielders, because of their better earnings, were able to spend a larger part of each dollar for food than persons in most cities. Locally, 21.1 per cent of all retail expenditures were for food.

In the other retail categories investigates, general merchandise and drugs, Mansfield is also a standout city. Purchases of general merchandise reached a peak of $8,969,000. Drug store buying was at the high level of $1,324,000.

Seeks Higher Pay to Court

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Salary raises for the chief justice and members of the Ohio supreme court were recommended Saturday by the council of delegates of the Ohio Bar association.

Closing a two-day meeting here, the council recommended the salary of the chief justice be raised from $12,600 to $20,000 a year. It also recommended the salaries for supreme court judges, now $12,000, be raised to $18,000 a year.

The council, which is the legislative body of the bar association, said the increases would put Ohio supreme court salaries in line with with those in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania.
